SOUTHERN SECTION OF CITY WILL GET FINE THEATRE

Movie Picture House, Stores and Office Building to Cost About $45,000

Southern Glendale is to have a moving picture theatre.
The Gateway Theatre will be the name of the new cinema playhouse to be constructed immediately on the south side of San Fernando road between Mira Loma avenue and Cerritos street.
P. A. Miller, owner of the California Theater in Los Angeles and the California Theater in Venice will operate the new "movie." It is understood that he will bring to it the same class of films shown at these other two houses.
Plans, which are being completed for the new theatre provide for a seating capacity of 800. A pipe organ will be installed.
A portion of the first floor of the building will be occupied by stores. There will be offices on the second floor.
The entire building will be of the most modern construction. It will have a frontage of 60 feet on San Fernando road.
An investment of between $40,000 and $45,000 is estimated.
Ruth Roland, moving picture actress, was the owner of the property which has just been acquired for the theatre building.
It is reported that she owns a frontage of 175 feet on San Fernando road in this vicinity.

ANNIVERSARIES ARE CELEBRATED

Members of 'Jolly Twelve' In Evening of Fun, Recall Days Gone By

Three wedding anniversaries were observed in one evening when six members of the Jolly Twelve were surprised and entertained Friday night by the rest of the party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Boicourt, 1124 North Brand boulevard.
Mrs. Boicourt was celebrating her birthday anniversary and the occasion was also their wedding anniversary. Just after the arrival of the dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Boicourt disappeared for a moment and re-entered the room attired for traveling. They were met by E. E. Haw, who performed a mock wedding ceremony. The guests were then seated at the table, which was beautifully decorated with yellow and white, with the three in one carried out in every appointment.
Invited to Home
After the first course, Mr. Maxwell rose and invited the guests to his home where he said they were giving a reception to the newlyweds. Arriving at the Maxwell home at 327 West Harvard, they were received at the door by the same three in one. Established when Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell entered the room posing as bride and groom, to be united in a mock ceremony, with Z. T. Boicourt officiating. A delicious dinner course was served with the two newly married couples seated at a special table. The decorations here were red and yellow chrysanthemums, combined with greenery. The three in one idea, and color scheme, was carried out in all the appointments, menu and favors.
Hallowe'en Party
When the maid had removed the plates for this course, E. E. Haw rose and invited the guests to his home at 325 West Wilson on a Hallowe'en party to take place immediately. Arriving at the Haw home they found the house elaborately decorated with hallowe'en colors and were further surprised when Mr. and Mrs. Haw entered the room to the wedding march and were joined in wedlock, with Mr. Maxwell as officiant, disclosing that they, too, were celebrating an anniversary.
A delicious course of pumpkin pie, doughnuts and cider was served here. At the close of the meal, the guests were further surprised when Mrs. Haw, who had been secretly enjoying the comment on the well-trained maid who had given such perfect service, ushered the young lady into the room and introduced her to the guests. Miss Nellie White of Des Moines, Iowa, who has just arrived and will be their guest for the time.
The remainder of the evening was spent in recounting anecdotes and reminiscences of their wedding days. Guests other than those already mentioned were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Spickerman, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Geiger.

MEMORY GONE, REPORT
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Indications that Henry J. Kaschub, former clerk in the office of the city engineer, suspended and now under arrest for alleged defalcations in his accounts, is suffering from a lapse of memory, were reported today.

Controller Saulsberry Makes Statement Regard to Tax Situation; Denies Council Had Anything to Do In Raising Valuation

"The Glendale City Council has nothing whatever to do with the increased value of property this year," asserts a statement issued this morning by City Controller H. C. Saulsberry on the tax situation.
"This valuation is fixed by the county assessor and the Glendale city officials did not know what valuation had been fixed for Glendale until shortly before the tax bills were received.
"While the city is receiving $156,691 for its entire general budget, the county is receiving $182,446. This means that $25,755 more money is being used from Glendale tax revenues for county purposes than we are receiving for city administration as comprised in our general budget.
"The taxpayer will note that but 34.8 per cent of the total taxes collected in Glendale are turned over to the city, 65.2 per cent going for county and school purposes.
According to this statement, the total municipal tax revenue is $352,511. However, $195,820 of this amount is being utilized for bond purposes. The balance of $156,691 covers the expenses of general administration, the operation of the police, fire, building and public welfare departments.
Included in the $195,820 are the following items: Park and recreation budget, $65,944; library, $43,963; street and district bonds, $22,788; additions, building and equipment bonds, $16,775; street improvement bonds, $9,715; street maintenance and flood control bonds, $36,634.
The total school and county share of the local revenue amounts to $661,644. Of this amount the schools will obtain $479,198 and the county $182,446.
The increase in revenue for this fiscal year as compared to last year will be $487,239. This sum is divided into $186,199 for municipal revenue and $301,040 for county and school revenue.

Many Wild Animals
Destroyed In Fire

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Oct. 21.—Property loss estimated at $150,000, including the loss of seventy-five wild animals being housed for circus purposes, is the result of a fire which early this morning swept the Horne Zoological arena here.
The animals, consisting of pumas, panthers, tigers, lions, bears and other beasts, were gathered for annual exhibition to circus owners.
The fire followed an explosion at 3 o'clock this morning which caused a sheet of flame to envelope the entire six buildings of the arena.
After investigation today detectives declared their belief that the fire was of incendiary origin.

INFORMAL DINNER AND PROGRAM AT TEACHERS' CLUB

High School Staff Meets at Social Affair and Listens to Debate

The Glendale High School Teachers' club enjoyed its first social affair last night at the Broadway Inn, where fifty members met for dinner and informal program. Since the organization of the club meetings have been held at the school at the close of the day's session and the club officers and members were greatly pleased over the success of last night's affair.
Long tables were arranged in the shape of the letter U and were decorated with large bouquets of dahlias. A splendid course dinner was served and following the final course Paul E. Webb, president of the club, presided over the program.
Enjoy Program
Enjoyable musical numbers by Mrs. C. A. Parker and Mrs. Dora L. Gibson of the school faculty opened the program and received hearty applause.
The chief feature of the program was a debate on the "Water and Power Act" by R. C. Eberhard of the Los Angeles city attorney's office and Miss Louise Brehme of Long Beach, representative of the Federated Women's clubs and also of the People's Economy league.
Mr. Eberhard upheld the affirmative side of the question, while Miss Brehme presented the negative argument and their studied and comprehensive arguments and statements resulted in interested discussion and questioning at the close of the debate.
George Lockwood, chairman of the club's legislative committee, was another speaker, taking for his subject, "Amendment 27" and urging all members of the club to vote against an increase in the number of names required on an initiative petition.
A brief talk by Principal George U. Moyle and a humorous reading, "The Kentucky Judge" by Harold L. Brewster of the dramatic department were the final events of the evening.

Arrival of Family
Drives Thief Away

Mrs. William C. Mabry returned to her home at 115 East Acacia avenue about 6 o'clock last night after an absence of an hour and a half. Her two children, Janet and Bettie, who had been with her, thought they heard footsteps inside the house and thought their father had come home earlier than usual.
Mrs. Mabry was surprised to find the door unlocked and the lights on. She distinctly remembers locking the door and there would have been no occasion to have turned the lights on before she left.
No one was inside the house and it is believed that the burglar left by the back door as Mrs. Mabry and the children entered the front door.
Dr. William C. Mabry returned from Los Angeles about 6:40 o'clock and reported the matter to the police immediately.

PROJECT FAILS TO GET TWO-THIRDS VOTE NEEDED

Unable Even to Win Majority at Polls; $600,000 Ready to Start Buildings

Voters in the Glendale Union High school district yesterday refused to endorse the financial policy of the board of trustees. The voters, instead of approving a bond issue for $350,000 with which to purchase a site in the northwest section of the city and to complete the contemplated high school plant at Verdugo road and Broadway, yesterday voted both measures.
A two-thirds vote would have been necessary to have approved the bond issue. As a matter of fact, 1061 votes were cast against the bonds and 981 votes for them, leaving a negative balance of 80 votes—and far from the required two-thirds majority.
However, the vote of yesterday, it is pointed out, must not be taken to mean that the voters of the Glendale Union High school district are opposed to providing proper educational facilities. On the contrary, the voters are always willing, Glendale's past history shows, to favor any well-balanced bond issue.

Money Long Available
About a year ago the district voted bonds to the amount of $85,000 which was spent on a new site—located in the eastern section of the city.
Last spring the sum of $600,000 was voted to erect buildings on the new site.

However, the board of trustees, after selling the bonds, failed to start work on the buildings. Instead, they asked for an additional $350,000. The voters yesterday registered their opinion of the board's financial policy.

A number of people are today asking the question: "Will the board of school trustees now proceed with the construction of the new school buildings?"
Voting on Sites
A large number of citizens did not vote on the selection of a site, admitting their ignorance of the comparative value of the properties. This fact was illustrated in the central precinct, Glendale, where 436 persons out of 1170 or over one-third, placed blank ballots into the ballot boxes. Another twenty-four persons deliberately spoiled their ballots by marking "No" after each site.

The Pelanconi site, which received 483 votes, secured almost twice as many as the Gardner site, which was given 259 votes. It received three times as many as the Edwards site, which secured 159 votes, and three times as many as the Hahn site, which was given 142 votes. In the order of favor sites were voted upon as follows: Pelanconi, Gardner, Edwards and Hahn.

Glendale precincts all voted against the bonds. The central precinct, which included all territory between Doran street on the north and Windsor road on the south, registered 504 votes for the bonds and 654 votes against them. This leaves a negative balance of 150 votes.

Different Sections
The north precinct, which includes all residents living north of Doran street, cast 206 votes for the bonds and 240 votes against them, or a negative balance of thirty-four votes.
The south precinct, which includes all residents living south of Windsor road, registered 109 votes for the bonds and 122 votes against them, or a negative balance of 13 votes.

School districts outside of Glendale all approved the bonds. This fact has led some to facetiously remark: "Looks as though they are trying to give Glendale a high school in spite of herself."

Outside Territory
Eagle Rock registered eighty-five votes for the bonds and thirty-one against them, or a balance in their favor of fifteen. Four ballots out of the 120 cast were spoiled.

The Crescenta school district cast twenty-six votes

LOCALS CONTEST COVINA TO TIE

Great Battle Is Provided by High School Teams In Meeting on Friday

In one of the best specimens of straight football ever seen in the Central league, Coach Hayhurst's Dynamiters battled to a scoreless tie with the Covina outfit yesterday afternoon at the field of the latter. With both teams fighting vainly to push the oval over the goal line, it proved to be an exceedingly fast game.

This idea of a scoreless game seems to be an annual affair both with the Glendale and Covina squads, as yesterday's fracas proved to be an exact replica of last season's struggle.

The first half was decidedly in favor of the locals, the ball being in Covina's territory nearly all of the period. The Black and Red aggregation received, the ball going to Butts, who ran it back to the middle of the field. A line-back by Ryan, and an off-tackle smash by Geib netted twelve yards, and it looked as though a touchdown was in sight, but being unable to make yards, Covina got the ball and punted. The sphere then saw-sawed back and forth, and the quarter ended with Glendale on the enemy's forty-yard line.

Ryan started the second period with a bang, crashing through the line for twenty yards. But the tide turned and the Red and Gray warriors held the locals, and another touchdown was narrowly averted.

In Second Half
The second period can be hoisted given to the opposition. The Glendale goal was in danger several times, and they were unable to do anything but punt to safety.

The absence of Captain Fred Stofft from the field was a big factor in the tie score, as he was one of the "big stars." In the Santa Barbara game several weeks ago, he received a bruised hip which did not bother him much at the time, but in a scrimmage last week it was again injured, and under doctor's orders, Coach Hayhurst did not use him yesterday. He will be back in the lineup next week.

Horatio Butts, who did the kicking in place of Stofft, showed up very well, his punts averaging close to forty yards.

"Red" Ryan, demon fullback, was the individual light of the game, breaking through the line on several occasions for gains of from three to twenty yards. On the line, Marshall at center, Bartow at right tackle and Phillips at right guard, showed up extremely well. In fact, the entire forward division played a stellar game, stopping the onslaught time after time.

Game Next Friday
The second round of the Central league race will be continued next Friday, the locals meeting the light, fast aggregation from South Pasadena.

The lineup was as follows:
Glendale Covina
Lavelle LER Hutchinson
Clausen WTR Cone
Shannon LGR Sancer
Marshall C Werden
Phillips RGL Wine
Bartow RTL Hoogendyke
West REL Welch
Horli Q Grant
Butts RHR Brown
Geib LHR McHann

JIMMY SMITH TO COACH FOOTBALL

U. S. C. Star Signs to Direct
Gridiron Affairs Behalf
Loyola College

Jimmy Smith, star end and tackle of the University of Southern California football team for the past three years and a player regarded as one of the smartest and cleanest on the coast, has been signed to coach the gridiron candidates of Loyola college in Los Angeles. Smith assumed his duties last week and is now busy with his newly acquired charges.

Golf Champ to Come
Gene Sarazen, world champion golfer, who has recently defeated such stars of the links as Hagen, Hutchinson and Barnes, has announced that he will appear on the Pacific coast in an exhibition tour during the coming winter season. The youngster, who was recently operated upon for appendicitis, is fast recovering his regular up-top form and is confident that the "old soup bone" will be functioning at its best by the time he arrives here. His tour will start in San Francisco shortly after the first of the year. Southern California will be included in his itinerary, as will other parts of the state.

Knockout In Movies
Glendale boxing fans who have followed ring activities for many years in Southern California will be interested to learn that Johnny Schiff, former first rate feather-weight boxer, is rapidly becoming a star in motion pictures. He will be remembered as one of the gamest of his class ever to participate in a bout under the supervision of "Uncle Tom" McCarey at the old Naud Junction arena.

Schiff recently completed a 12-weeks' engagement with Reginald Denny in a serial at Universal City, and is now co-starring with Bull Montana in a brand new production. His next efforts in cinema production will be in "Fighting Blood," at the Robertson-Cole studios.

Fanned Out by Cupid
Wesport Kingdon, former Lincoln high school diamond luminary and more recently of several professional baseball clubs, is the latest follower of the national pastime to subject himself to the rigorous oaths of matrimony. Kingdon arrived in Los Angeles last week from Bridgeport, Conn., where he played last season in the Eastern league and where he was married.

Following his phenomenal performances with Lincoln, several years ago Kingdon was taken under the wing of Walter McCredie, then of Portland, after which he was traded to Vernon. After playing "off and on" under the tutelage of Bill Essick for a year he was turned over to the New York Yankees, who sent him to Bridgeport following last spring's training season. He will be recalled by the Yanks next spring.

During the winter months Kingdon will play with the Cleary Athletic club team of Los Angeles.

Tia Juana Racing
With the annual opening of the Tia Juana racing season coming within a few weeks comes the announcement that Clarence Buxton, nationally known Oakland sportsman, has decided to enter a high class stable of well known ponies in the meet. This year's string of events will be the most attractive in the history of the border city races, as a considerable amount of money has been added to the purses, the largest of which will be the Coffroth handicap, carrying a purse of $30,000. This will be the richest award ever offered in America for horses of all ages.

Buxton, who won the big handicap in 1917 with Sasin, is collecting a group of equines that will rival that of any stable ever collected together in the west.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Colorful, as always, the game little Centre college outfit, bossed by a National league umpire and jerseyed after the subdued taste of the zebra, will take another fling at the aristocratic Harvard eleven in the Cambridge stadium today.

It will be the third meeting of this oddly assorted pair and the honors stand at one-all, Harvard having disposed of the so-called Praying Colonels in 1920, only to have them come out of the far-off hills of Danville, Ky., to gain a 6 to 0 decision last year.

Harvard, of course, will "take the game in its stride." It always does this with a small college team that figures to give trouble. It is an excellent anti-mortem alibi.

There is more fact than fancy in Harvard's oft-repeated statement, however. Certainly the Crimson is never as well prepared for Centre as it is for Princeton and Yale, yet the team is in there shooting to win with the best weapons at its command. Anyone who witnessed Harvard's last-ported rally in the Centre affair last year can vouch for that. If Harvard isn't as strong as in other seasons, the same may be said for Centre. Indeed, it is very much feared that they are not the Praying Colonels of old.

San Francisco won the pennant of the Pacific Coast baseball league in a race that was not determined until the next to the last day of play, and offering one of the best contests ever seen in the organization. There was little to choose between San Francisco and Vernon, which club was the runner up, but there is no question that the "breaks" were in favor of the Seals. On the other hand, due credit must be given the owners of the San Francisco club for rounding up a well-balanced machine. Some experts have gone so far as to say that no team ever in the league had better all round ability.

It is interesting to note that the team that wins the greatest number of series played during the season is not always the one to romp off with the gonfalon. It will be seen that Vernon won one more series than the Seals and they also lost three less. Here is the lineup for the year in the matter of series won, lost and tied:

Club	W.	L.	Tied
San Francisco	18	8	2
Vernon	19	5	4
Los Angeles	18	10	—
Salt Lake	11	14	3
Seattle	11	14	3
Oakland	9	18	1
Portland	10	14	4
Sacramento	7	20	1

To those who consider seven series won rather a poor showing even for the cellar team may be interested to know that the famous Portland team of 1921 only won four of the series it played last year, and there were 26 of them.

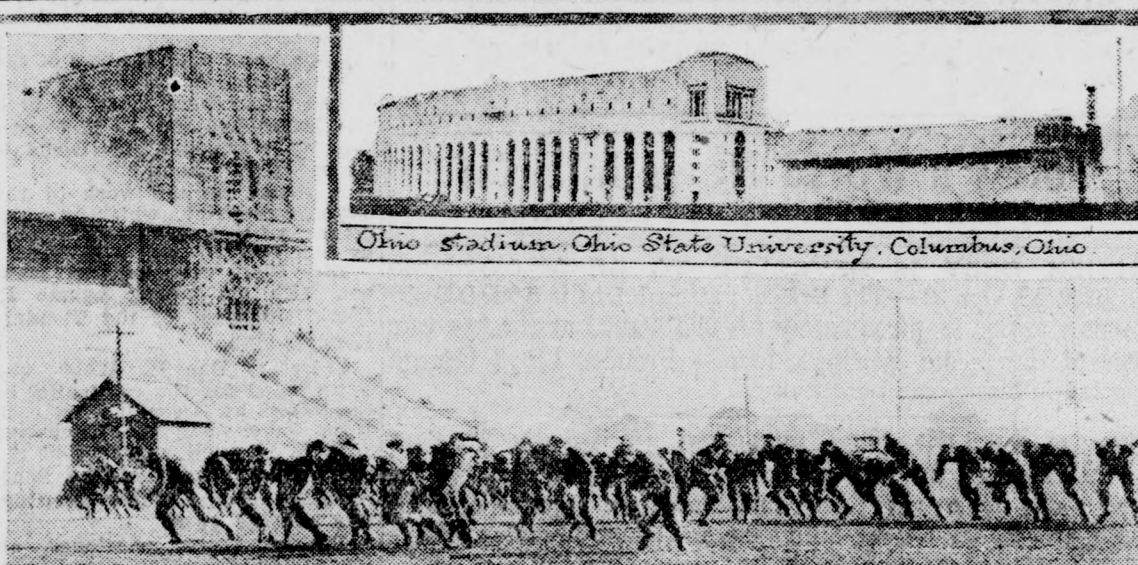

While there was a wide divergence between the first and the last team, and also wide gaps in the percentages among others of the teams, it so happened that there were only from two to three races on between pairs of the teams who chanced to be running close together. Thus the race for first place lay between Vernon and San Francisco. Seattle and Salt Lake always were contesting the dubious honor of last place in the first division or first place in the second division, while Portland and Sacramento made a game fight for the tenancy of the cellar which the gallant Sacramento finally succeeded in achieving.

The quality of baseball sold the fans was of the generally high order which this league offers its patrons. Practically all of the owners, besides making money out of the business also happen to be good sportsmen so they are willing to spend more to see the sport than is the manager who has little or no sentiment in the game outside of the dollars it brings in.

Ohio State University's New Stadium

Ohio State Football Squad - First time on new Ohio Stadium field, Sept. 30, 1922.

The Ohio State University team is here shown "trying out" the new stadium field. A crowd of fans quickly gathered in the new stadium and witnessed the scrimmage. Inset is of the stadium itself. It has a seating capacity of 65,000.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Ohio State university's new stadium, erected at a cost of $1,341,000 and with a seating capacity of 65,000, was dedicated today with a football game between Michigan and Ohio State eleven, rivals for Western Conference supremacy.

A year ago the same two teams re-dedicated Ferry Field, at Ann Arbor, Mich., which had been enlarged and improved, before a crowd of 42,000 people. Indications early today were that they would play before a capacity crowd in this instance also. If the crowd swells to all that Ohio Stadium will stand, which it may, it will comprise the largest crowd ever to witness an intercollegiate football game in the middle west.

Ohio and Michigan men in public life in their respective states were perhaps not as good in the days of old as they were rated. In those days no western teams ever thought or dared to stack up against Yale, Harvard or Princeton. Times have surely changed.

The Ohio State squad practiced recently on the new field for the first time. No announcement had been made that the scrimmage would be held, but the news soon became noised around and a large number of fans was on hand.

Stanford took on St. Mary's at Palo Alto this afternoon and the Cardinals were expected to show greatly improved form.

LASTS FIVE MONTHS
Detective Sergeant E. S. Boucher of 115½ South Brand boulevard is getting a good laugh out of the fact that T. J. Worthington, who succeeded him as chief of police at El Centro, was only able to keep the job five months. Mr. Boucher held this position for over four years.

The annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States is set for the three days starting Sunday, November 22, at New York.

Immediately following the conclusion of the A. A. U. meeting the American Olympic committee will convene on November 22 and 23. Preliminary plans will be laid for the participation of this country in the 1924 Olympic games and it is possible considerable will be said pro and con relative to the activities of the new National Athletic Federation which is somewhat a thorn in the side of the A. A. U. and the Olympic committee.

The A. A. U. seems to be having trouble all over the country. The latest break against A. A. U. rule has happened at Portland, Ore., where the Public School Athletic association has withdrawn from the A. A. U. The schools refuse—and rightly—to allow domination by the local A. A. U. branch. The trouble is that same old bugbear "bush baseball." The only hold the A. A. U. could have over school boys playing in summer ball would be over those who played on such teams who wanted to compete in some sports over which the A. A. U. has control. It has no control over baseball or football and the Portland scholastic association refused to be dictated to on the subject. They are now going to put into effect a registration of their own for school boys and this is as it should be and the A. A. U. branch will be wise if it will adopt a policy of "hands off" the boys.

The performance of Paul Strand of the Salt Lake Pacific coast baseball league team in amassing 289 base hits in the season just closed is one of the big features of the year. It far surpasses the best mark in the majors and better than the minor mark of 282 base hits made last year by J. Kirke of the Louisville American association team. The former record for the coast in this respect was 280 base hits made last year by Miller of the Oakland team.

Northern Gridiron Elevens In Battle

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 21.—The drive for Pacific coast college football honors opens this afternoon with the University of Washington meeting the Oregon Aggies in Seattle stadium. Fans give Bagshaw's men the edge although the Aggies are unknown in strength and have two successive victories over the Purple and Gold. A crowd of 20,000 is expected.

Multnomah club meets the fast Gonzaga university team of Spokane on Multnomah field here. It is a "test" game for the clubmen. Multnomah beat Oregon easily last Saturday and a win today gives her a clean slate leading to the big game against Olympic club, Armistice day, at Pasadena. Gonzaga held Washington State to a 10-7 victory last week.

University of Montana plays Idaho Poly at Missoula, Mont., and Albany college meets Willamette university at Salem, Ore.

Bears and Olympics Hold Contest Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Football interest in the bay region today centered largely in the clash at Berkeley between the University of California and the Olympic club of this city. The clubmen were expected to give the Smithmen the toughest tussle they have had this season.

Majors and Latham will be absent from the Olympic lineup because of their aversion to play in games against their Alma Mater. Coach Evans says he has filled their shoes capably.

California will go on the field minus Brick Mueller, it being practically conceded this great athletic is through as a regular. Repeated injuries will prevent his being used except as a "pinch hitter," it is said.

Stanford took on St. Mary's at Palo Alto this afternoon and the Cardinals were expected to show greatly improved form.

"There Is a Girl"

This is the uppermost thought in the mind of many a young man in Glendale, and is the underlying motive which controls his action in accumulating and getting a start in life. He has high aims and wonderful prospects.

In his program one of the finest things which should engage his thought is that of securing, at least some, protection for that life which he hopes and expects is going to build the fortune for "that girl." Secure a long endowment. The deposits will be small and the protection secure, either at death or maturity. This is the way—the only way—that he can know, absolutely, that his vision will materialize, whatever happens.

DO YOU WANT NICE DOGS?

Enforcement of the law against permitting dogs to run the streets is causing many good canines to be picked up and placed in the city pound before being executed. As a result, a number of people in Glendale are visiting the pound and securing nice dogs, taking them home and seeing to it that they do not again "run afoul of the law." Police officers say that they do not want to shoot the animals and if people will appear at the pound they will be welcome to take their pick of a number of unclaimed canines.

SIGNING PETITIONS

Residents of the Westside who are circulating petitions against the proposed opening and widening of Patterson avenue from San Fernando road to Brand boulevard, are meeting with success, according to R. SPECIAL CONVENTION TALK

Dr. W. T. Gilliland of Los Angeles is to preach at the morning service Sunday at the First Methodist church, his sermon being a special one for the J. O. C. annual convention convening in Glendale today and tomorrow.

The convention opened this afternoon with registration at 1:30 o'clock. The annual banquet will take place tonight and on Sunday there will be morning and afternoon services.

RICHARD ROBERTS INJURED

While climbing a ladder in the store, Richard Roberts, manager of the Glendale Market on East Broadway, fell eight feet to the cement floor, and was very painfully injured. He was rushed to the office of Dr. T. C. Young, where he was bandaged and treated. He was then taken to his home in an ambulance. He will be unable to return to work for several days. The accident happened at 5:30 o'clock last night.

A son was born this morning, Saturday, October 21, 1922, at the Glendale hospital to Mrs. Clifton Piddle of 229 East Linden street.

Fans In Southland See Big Contests

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Football fans in Southern California had a chance today to satisfy their appetites for the sport. The menu reads:

University of Southern California vs. Nevada at Bovard field, Los Angeles.

Occidental college vs. University of California, Southern branch, Los Angeles.

California Tech vs. Pomona college, Claremont.

The "piece de resistance" is the clash between U. S. C. and Nevada. Because it was the Nevada crew that drew a yelp from the Occidental Tiger, coupled with the fact that a week from today U. S. C. will tackle the California Bruins, much interest has been evinced in this contest.

Youth Is Shot by White Masked Bandit

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Police were without a clue today to the assassin who last night fired five shots into the body of 16-year-old Thomas J. McCormick at the rear of the crowded Mission theatre. The audience was thrown into excitement when the shots rang out. Two automobiles were reported speeding away from the scene. Police hold the theory that McCormick was slain by the "white masked bandits." Several members of this gang were rounded up and the boy is believed to have given officers information concerning them.

INFORMAL DINNER PARTY

Mrs. John Rondou and son, Edgar, of Green Bay, Wis., were special guests last night at an informal dinner party given by Mesdames S. C. Kinch and A. C. Schrader at the Kinch home at 323 North Brand boulevard.

Mrs. Rondou and her son have been spending two months in Southern California as guests of Mrs. Rondou's daughter and son, Mrs. Louis Libert of 207 Magnolia avenue and John Rondou of 212 Laurel street. They plan to leave a week from today for their home in Wisconsin.

MISS NOBLE IS HOSTESS

Miss Carrie Noble, principal of Wilson avenue school, entertained at her home in Pasadena last night with a charming affair at which the guests of honor were Miss Margaret McPherson, bride-elect and her fiancé, Lawrence Stewart. Pleasant games interspersed with music filled the evening hours. Light refreshments were served.

The guests were teachers from the two intermediate schools with whom Miss McPherson has been associated in her work in the office of the school for the past years. She was presented with a handsome combination electric appliance, as a prenuptial gift from the guests present and Mr. Stewart was the recipient of a shower of mock gifts.

Those present were Miss Margaret McPherson, Miss Vera Sinclair, Miss Ada Salstrom, Miss Edna Duffy, Miss Frances Jackson, Miss Carol Duncan, Misses Lady and Margaret Sharpe, R. D. White, E. A. Rowley, Norman Whytock, A. T. Blanford, Lawrence Stewart. A special guest was Miss Maria Heinman of Ohio, cousin of the bride-elect, who has come west to be present at the wedding.

DINNER PARTY HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts of 617 East Elk avenue entertained with a dinner party at the Glen Inn and an evening of bunks at the hotel last night. The tables at the Glen Inn had been specially arranged for the occasion and decorations were carried out in red carnations. Yellow chrysanthemums were used at the Roberts home. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tower, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Stamps, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Worley, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. State Troops Ready to Guard Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 21.—State troops will be ordered to Portland if the I. W. W. hordes swarm here from all over the country to take a hand in the waterfront strike.

Announcement was made today by Governor Olcott that Adjutant-General White would be detailed to keep close watch on conditions. Mayor Baker had previously been asked that the adjutant-general be ready at a moment's notice to dispatch troops here in case the situation should warrant it.

Coincident with this development was official notification by the city advising the general defense committee of the I. W. W. at Chicago that its members will do well to remain away from Portland.

University Officials Probe Student Riot

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Intervention by authorities of the University of California at Berkeley into the riot which occurred here early yesterday between 300 students of the University of California, southern branch, and the University of Southern California loomed as the investigation went forward today and participants in the clash faced possible expulsion from school.

Stories of the clash, which took place on the southern branch campus and in which Roger Vargas was most seriously injured of the score hurt, when he received a dislocated vertebrae, and 200 policemen were called to quell the trouble, differ. According to one version, the University of Southern California students received a note from the southern branch students defying them to set fire to a pile of boxes on the latter's campus to be used in a night rally for a football game today.

Broadway Central Market Opens Today

"They're not shopping, they're buying" is one description of the crowds received today at the opening of the Broadway Central Market at 217-219-221 West Broadway.

Adding to the attractive arrangement of store furnishings and stocks were numerous floral pieces from city merchants and friends congratulating the owner of the market on the day of opening.

Special features were to be found in the various departments and from 5 o'clock this afternoon until 9 o'clock tonight there will be music by Kelley's Shrine Club orchestra.

May Indict Woman and Man in Slaying

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 21.—Indictment of a man and a woman on the direct charge of killing Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, wealthy rector of the fashionable Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and his beautiful choir leader, Mrs. James Mills, may be asked of the Somerset county grand jury Monday it was learned today.

Another woman has been brought into the case. So far her identity has not been revealed, but it is declared that she has made affidavit to Prosecutor Beckman that she was an eye-witness of the murder and can identify the persons who committed it. This woman has not been publicly mentioned in connection with the crime up to the present time.

There was general expectancy today that two arrests would be made of the murder and a woman. From a reliable source it was learned that detectives have concentrated their efforts towards piling up evidence against a woman. Her indictment was expected to follow the appearance before the grand jury of the new woman witness, who claims to have witnessed the murder from a clump of shrubbery where she was hidden.

One may sell shoestrings and buttons and still be a man.

Two Women Killed by Smoke and Heat

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. — Two young women were killed by smoke and heat and a third was seriously injured when she and her husband leaped from a second floor window during a fire that damaged the factory of the Knickerbocker Roofing company here early today. The dead: Miss Opal Hodge, 21; Miss Anna Bradley, 18. Mrs. Rose Grant, 26, suffered fractures of her legs and internal injuries when she jumped from the window. Her husband escaped unhurt. The victims lived on the second floor.

OPENING DANCE BY ELKS

Dry Agents Blunder In Seizing Schooner

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — American prohibition agents "blundered" when they seized the Canadian schooner Emerald with a liquor cargo off the New Jersey coast—an act for which this government must now express "regret" to the British government, it was disclosed officially at the treasury department today.

For the first time since the dry era began, the state department will be called upon to apologize to a foreign government for overzealous enforcement of United States liquor laws.

The official inquiry today established to the satisfaction of Secretary Mellon that when the dry chaser Hahn ventured eight miles offshore, trained her guns upon the liquor-laden Emerald, and brought her into the port of New York, American officers committed a serious breach of international comity and agreement. The facts are said to establish that the Emerald had not established communication with the American shore by means of her own boats or her crew.

The British government's protest, the first of its kind lodged with the state department, challenging the right of this govern-

Lloyd George Speaks; Gets Great Ovation

LEEDS, England, Oct. 21. — "It is for the people to decide whether a political party or the nation is to come first," declared former Premier Lloyd George in a political speech here today—the first since he retired from stewardship of the empire.

A great ovation was given to the Welsh statesman as he ascended the platform. Men shouted themselves hoarse and the air was filled with flying hats and handkerchiefs.

"I stand by the people," said Mr. Lloyd George in opening his address. "I put my record in the hands of the people."

"The banner of strife has been raised. I welcome the fight. But the issue will be decided by the people in general election."

"The combination (coalition) which won victory in the war has been broken up. It was broken because one party thought it did not get enough out of it."

The first Protestant church on the Pacific coast was begun at Oregon City in 1842 and completed in 1844.

ment to seize the British boat, is now held by the treasury department to have been well taken.

The T. D. & L.

"Pink Gods" is the film attraction today and tonight at the T. D. & L. theatre. The scenes are laid in South Africa and the picture is based on Cynthia Stockley's novel, "Pink Gods and Blue Demons." The author is thoroughly familiar with the great diamond mines for she envelops her story in a wealth of picturesque detail.

Lady Diana Manners, said to be England's most beautiful woman, will make a screen appearance tomorrow at the T. D. & L. theatre. The picture is "The Glorious Adventure," the first photoplay in which Lady Diana appears in the leading feminine role and also the first Prizma color screen feature production ever made.

The Glendale

A romance of three generations in California is the Bert Lytell picture, "The Idle Rich," being shown for the last times today at the Glendale theatre. Supplementing the picture are five vaudeville acts.

Opening on Sunday will be Rex Ingram's master production for Metro, "The Prisoner of Zenda." It's the story of a charming princess who loved the king and had consented to be his bride. Her heart was broken and her love shattered when she learned from his own lips that he was only a masquerader. Although her love for him remained constant, she could not marry him, for to do so would mean to depart from her own people. A romantic love story in a beautiful old-world setting starring Alice Terry and Lewis Stone.

AUTOMOBILE SECTION

DON'T LOAN AUTO! WARNING BY CLUB

If 'Friend' Takes Your Car
It's Embezzlement, Not
Theft, Says Club

Glendale motorists! Be careful of your alleged friends who want to borrow your auto these days, warns the Automobile club of Southern California.

There is an epidemic of embezzlement cases throughout the southern and central counties of California, and, according to the testimony of scores of motorists, the embezzling is being done by persons who claim to be friends of the car owner.

Don't loan your car to any person who wishes to borrow it without the proper references or unless you know that the person is reliable—this warning is made emphatic today by the auto club following the report of hundreds of cars embezzled throughout Southern California by the so-called friends of motorists.

Different From Theft
In the case of embezzlement, which is very different from ordinary "theft," the ordinary forms of fire and theft insurance do not protect the car owner, and he is out of luck if his car is embezzled, according to a statement from the club insurance department.

The question of embezzlement concerns the original intention of the person "borrowing" the car. If he does not intend to steal it at the time, but just wants to use it for a while, and then later decides to make away with it, that is embezzlement. However, if he takes it with intent to steal, then it is stealing and comes under that form of protection in insurance circles.

Southern California is well situated to further the schemes of embezzlers, because of its many avenues of escape, it is pointed out, and, therefore, Glendale motorists must be more than ordinarily careful in "loaning" their cars.

Camp Sites Showing Increase in Nation

The outlook now is that by the spring of 1923 these good old United States will be almost one camp site after another, and in every direction. The camp site idea started in the west, but other sections of the country were quick to take it up. Reports are many of plans in the making for the establishment of such sites all along the main traveled roads.

Municipalities have taken the plan seriously and motor clubs are assisting. At first the sites were not much to brag of, but they are now being improved from every standpoint. The result is they are sanitary, clean and comfortable. City light and water, and a real system for the assignment of visitors to parking places, have helped materially.

There is a picturesqueness about the camp site also which makes an appeal. The suggestion of a strain of gypsy blood in the veins of most Americans is carried out in the avidity with which camping-out opportunities have been seized upon where they were the least bit inviting.

This State Makes New Auto Records; May Lead America

California is breaking all records in automobile registration, and it may lead America in its total this year.

According to figures compiled by the Automobile club of Southern California, it is shown that there are more autos in California at this time than there were in New York on January 1 of this year.

The registration for 1921 in New York, which led America last year, was 812,031. The registration at the present time in California is approximately 834,192.

California was fourth on the list of states for the number of automobiles registered last year, but there is a possibility that it will jump to second place this year, and if eastern states eliminate all "dead" or defunct numbers from their registration totals at the end of the year, then California may jump into first place. The registration figures as issued in this state contain no "dead" numbers.

Ohio and Pennsylvania, and of course, New York, were ahead of California last year. The total number of cars registered in this state for 1921 was 673,830—an increase of 157,362 autos in less than ten months of the year.

The increase during 1921 over 1920, for California, was only 104,938. The comparison of these figures is pointed out by the Auto club as indicative of the tremendous increase in cars for this state during 1922.

According to additional figures secured by the club, there is every evidence that all records for transcontinental travel will be broken here this year. Thousands of cars are arriving each week over the transcontinental routes, more than fifty a day coming over one road alone.

Now Urging Repeal of U. S. Auto Tax

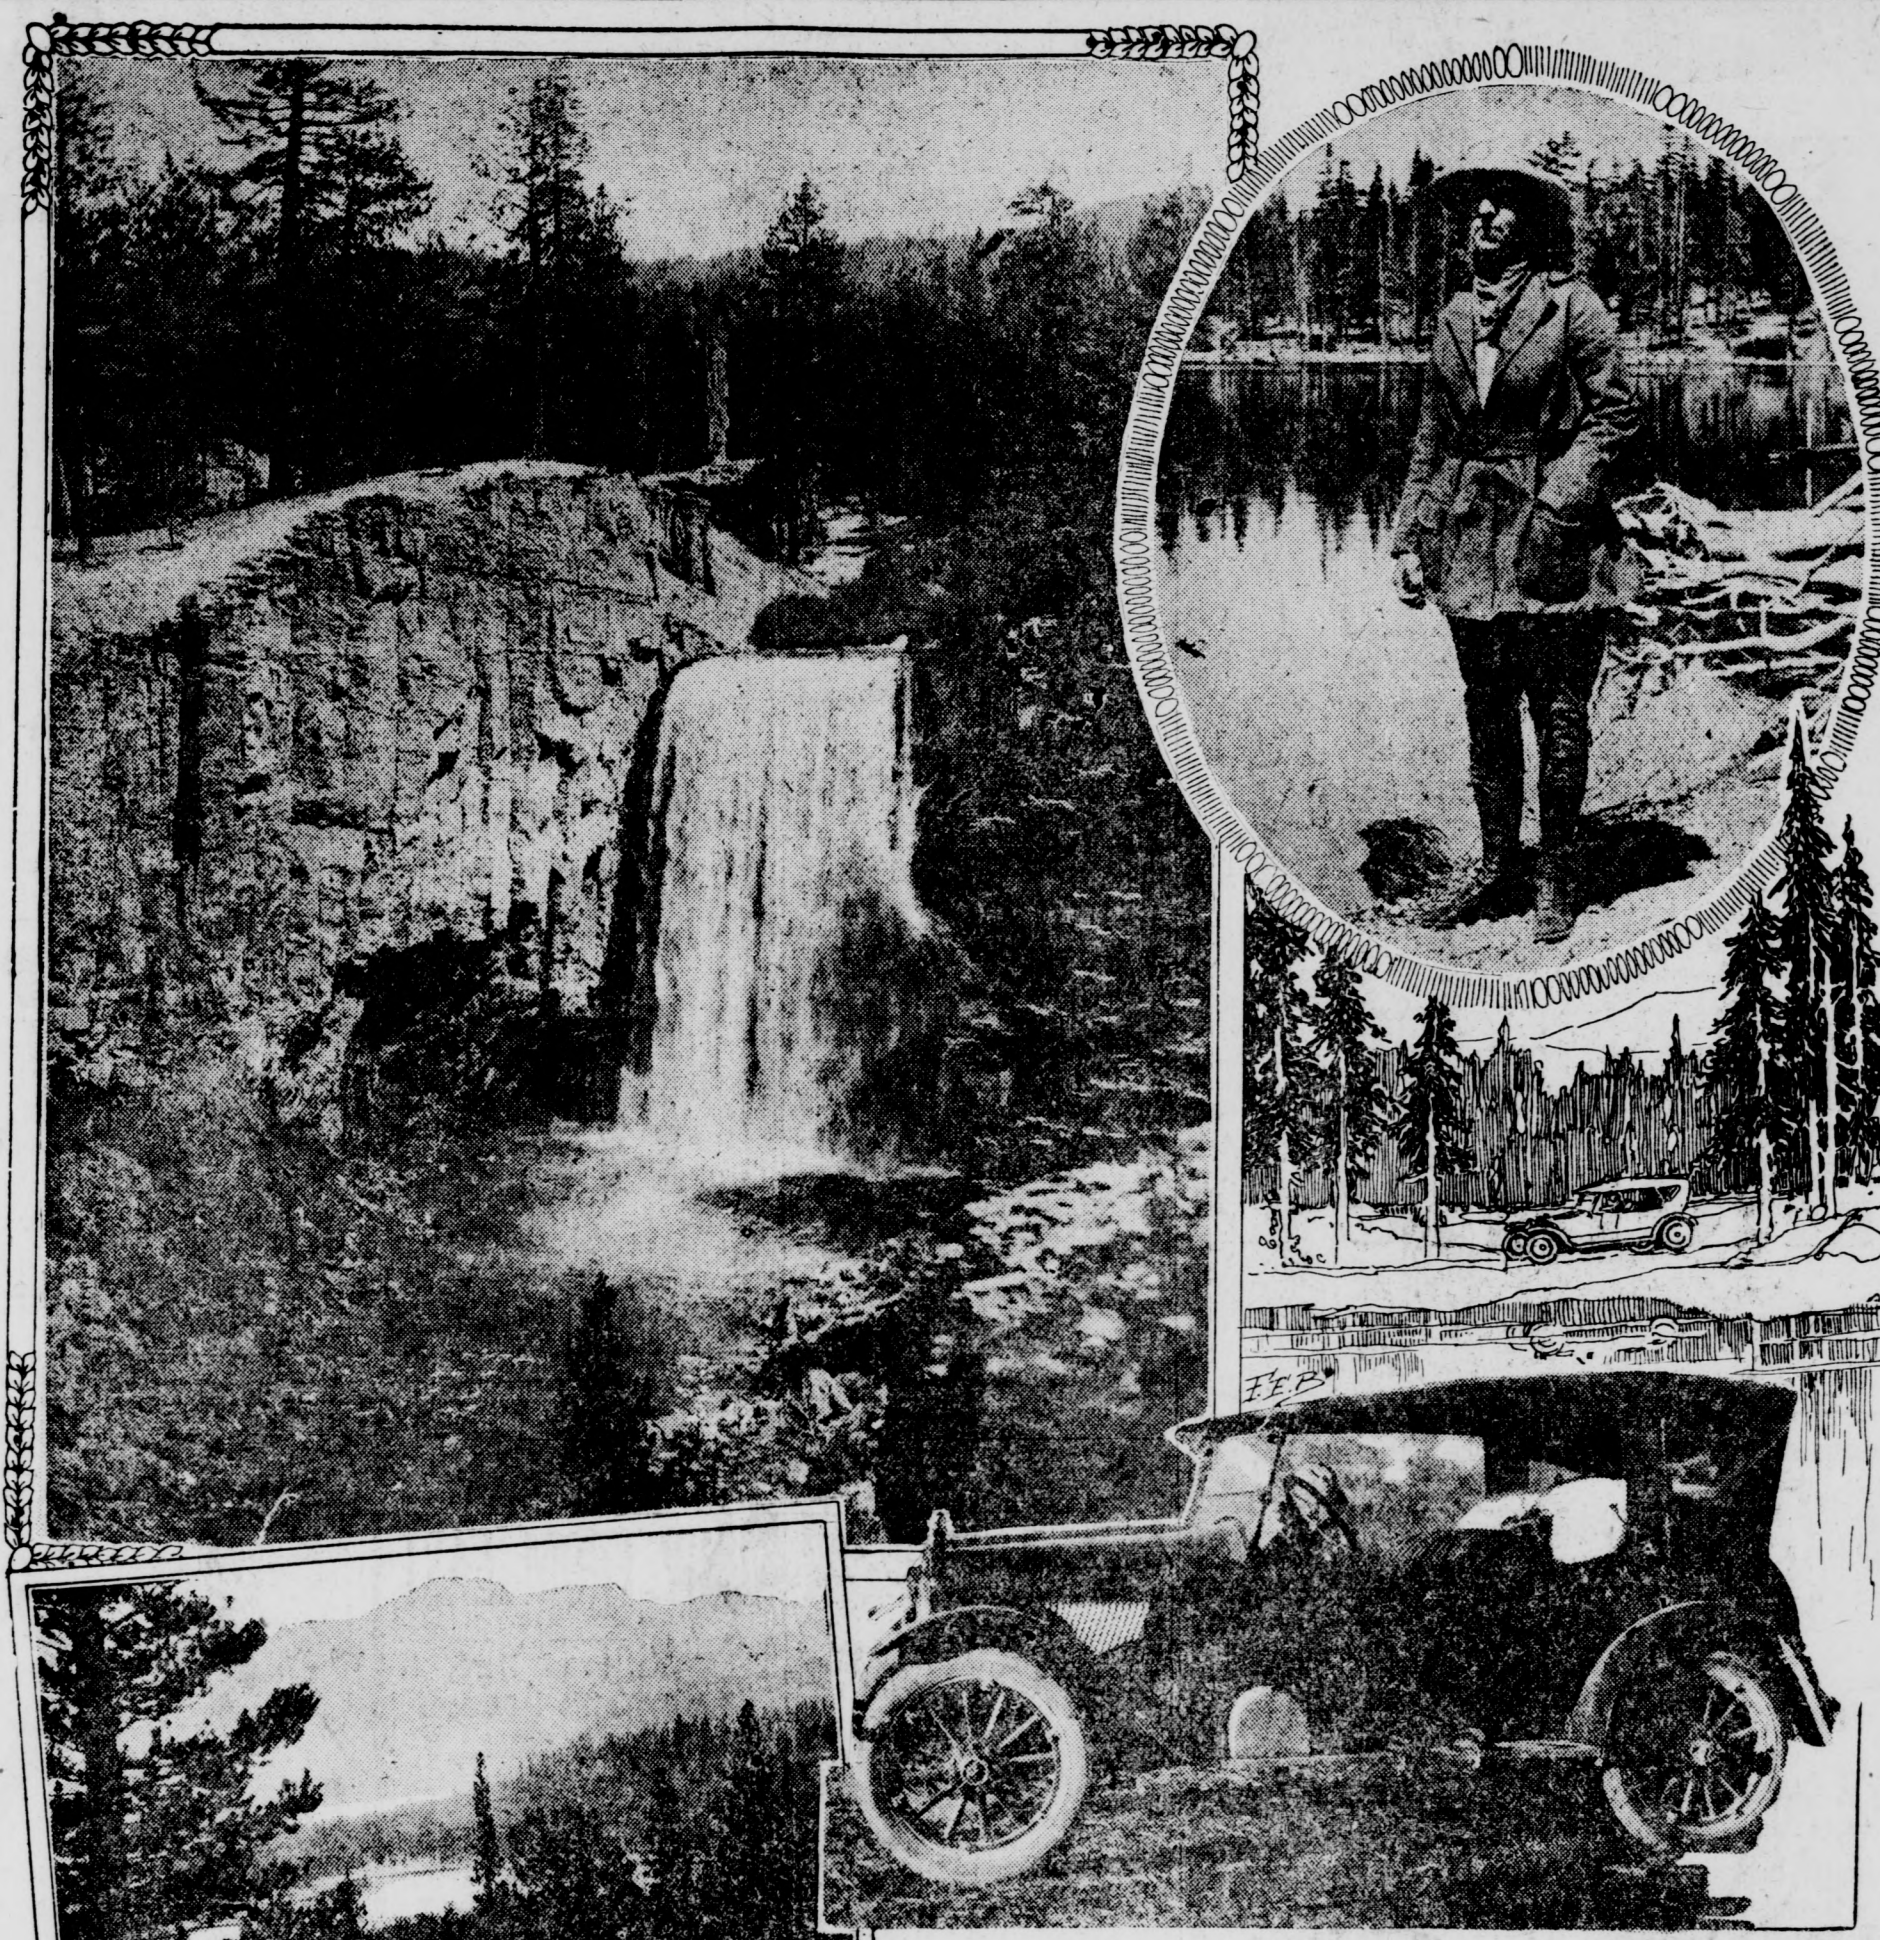

Reaffirming the continued opposition of the automotive industry to the "discriminatory war excise taxes," C. C. Hanch, chairman of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, has addressed a letter to each nominee for congress asking him whether he favors repeal of this legislation.

"Apparently congress believed it of greater importance to relieve musical instruments, sporting goods, chewing gum, thermos bottles, fur articles, picture frames, perfumes, toilet waters and hair dyes than individual transportation," says the letter. "In his belief we do not concur and we feel that the only equitable thing in the interests of fair play and the welfare of all industry as a whole is to repeal all discriminatory war excise taxes."

The letter is accompanied by a memorandum which shows in graphic form the repeals and reductions made in the tax law of 1921 as against the law of 1918.

From 1909 to 1918 the number of automobiles in use in the United States increased 1700 per cent.

SOUTHLAND LURES MANY FROM EAST

All Roads Lead Here, If Heavy Travel Increase
Is Any Proof

The following editorial is from Touring Topics, of the issue of October 19, the publication being the official organ of the Automobile Club of Southern California:

"It would seem that all roads lead to Southern California, judging by the heavy increase in motor travel for the first nine months of the year, and the indications are that the gain in the next two or three months will be proportionately great. This year has been abnormal in the extent of the travel into Southern California from the east and the north. Transcontinental travel has been 100 per cent greater than it was last year and travel from the northwest has increased even more.

"During June, July and August an average of 160 automobiles a day came to Southern California over the three transcontinental routes, Bankhead, Santa Fe and Arrowhead. The Midland route carried its share of the travel until it was blocked by storms. From the Pacific northwest have come an average of 200 automobiles a day in addition.

Going Back Home
"At this season travel is well under way back into Arizona and other southwest points. Transcontinental travel has started this way from many states, notably Texas and Oklahoma. A large number of these motor travelers have been here before and are wont to refer to the trip as 'going back home to California.' The fall travel, according to reliable indications, will far exceed that of any previous year. Most of the visitors come to Los Angeles. Some of them stay in or near Los Angeles and many others go to Pasadena and the beaches.

"The excessively heavy motor travel is reflected in the augmented activities of the Touring Bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California. The bureau has distributed in the year 1,500,000 transcontinental maps and 4,500,000 maps of all kinds, an increase over the preceding year of about 100 per cent. The bureau has replied to an average of thirty-seven letters a day, has answered a daily average of 700 telephone calls and attended to a daily average of 550 personal calls.

Advertising Benefits
"While it is difficult to exactly appraise the reasons for such an enormous increase in travel to the Southland, it is undoubtedly due to the advertising campaigns of the All-Year club, the railroads and other organizations, to the fact that Southern California's motoring advantages have been told by motorists who have been here, to better highways and improved travel conveniences such as sign posting, map distribution, etc. Advertising has been mutually beneficial to Southern California and the Pacific northwest. While there has been a notable increase in the travel from the north into the Southland it is also true that travel from California northward has increased several hundred per cent.

"That the increased motor travel to Southern California is (Continued on Page Six)

New York Will Have Million Autos, 1923

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 21.—New York state's number of automobiles is expected to surpass the million mark next year. At the state prison here 1,200,000 license tags are being manufactured for use in 1923. Nine hundred thousand tags were made here last year. The figures include pleasure and commercial cars and trailers.

One hundred prisoners are engaged in the work of manufacturing the tags. D. J. Grant, deputy superintendent of industries at the prison, is in charge.

Most of the hundred are serving sentences as pickpockets, Grant said. They include men of many professions and trades, but most are skilled mechanics.

Work is being rushed to complete the tags by December 1. The task already is near completion.

Three Girls Launch Automotive Business

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 21.—Scouting proffered male assistance three young women today launched into a business venture seldom attempted by their sex—the manufacture and sale of automobiles, airships and motorcycles. The name of the firm, however, is of masculine gender, being "Frank L. Darling, Inc."

The feminine firm will have its place of business in Long Beach, according to articles of incorporation filed here today. The firm has a capital stock of $150,000 and its plucky directors are Myrtle McCauley, Grace Steffens and Louis Snyder, all of Long Beach.

Mutt Motorist Pest on Many Highways

The following article was awarded first prize in a recent "Knockers' Contest," conducted by a Syracuse newspaper:

I knock the mutt motorist. He leaves the curb without signal—stops suddenly in traffic without warning.

He uses his horn instead of his brakes in a street filled with playing children.

He steals places in traffic and "cuts in" regardless.

Overtakes and passes another car near the brow of a hill, or on a curve.

Stops his car on a curve in the road without getting out of the roadway.

He hogs the road.

His lights are blinding, nor will he dim them—damn him.

He drives with a snoot full.

He is a curse—an abomination—an affliction to humanity.

I knock him.

San Gabriel Bridge Work Being Rushed

Before the February storms fill the dry channel of the San Gabriel with a roaring flood, the state highway commission hopes to have completed a new and substantial bridge across the San Gabriel on the Foothill boulevard. Work is now being rushed at the utmost possible speed to get the great concrete piers in place before the first of the storm water comes from the hills, and, barring misfortune from the weather, it is believed that the new $165,000 structure will be thrown open to travel about the 1st of February.

Squeaking of brakes may be temporarily stopped by spraying water between the brake surfaces.

Lake Country Proves Popular Attraction

During the past summer the residents of Southern California discovered a new vacation land in the lake region on the east side of the Sierra Nevada. J. C. Bogardus, Jr., of Pasadena, driving his Hupmobile, was one of the motorists to make the trip there recently.

The lake country is above Bishop and involves a round-trip from Pasadena or Glendale of about 700 or 800 miles, but every minute of the trip is fascinating in its diversity of scenery. Usually parties going to this fishing and hunting paradise leave here in the afternoon or evening, making an all-night drive over the Mojave desert, some of them going as far as Independence or Bishop before making their first stop for sleep.

There are two optional routes through Jawbone or Red Rock canyon of about equal sandiness and grades, and converging after about twenty miles. A little above Bishop one gets up into the mountains, with trout streams to be crossed every few miles, and good deer and bear hunting for those who will pack back into the Sierra one day's distance. The real lake country is at Mammoth, an old-time gold mining town, full of romance.

There are located Twin lakes, Lake George, Lake Mary, Summit lake as well as Goose lake. The automobile road now goes on two or three miles farther than Twin lakes to Lakes Mary and George. Summit lake, a short three miles hike from Lake Mary, is stocked with golden trout and there, Mr. Bogardus says, he had the finest fishing he has ever known.

FORD REDUCTION IS BIG SURPRISE

Number of Unfilled Orders
Still Growing in Spite of Record Production

The reduction in Ford prices of $50 on each model, which was announced on October 17, has set the motor world agog. According to Jesse E. Smith, local Ford dealer, this radical decrease in prices was totally unexpected at this time by the motoring fraternity. In spite of the record production of the Detroit factory at this season, the number of unfilled orders has been constantly growing. Consequently, the news of the latest effort of Henry Ford to carry out his avowed purpose of furnishing transportation units at the lowest possible cost came as a pleasant surprise to many thousands of prospective buyers.

"The prices of Ford cars and trucks are now at the lowest mark in the history of the Ford Motor company," says Mr. Smith. "The new prices f. o. b. Detroit are as follows: Touring, standard, $298; runabout, standard, $269; chassis, $235; 1-ton truck chassis, $380; coupe, with electric starter and demountable rims, $530; sedan, with same equipment, $595.

"Following out the usual Ford policy, the new prices are based not on what it costs to manufacture at this time, but on what it is expected the costs will be several months from now. In other words, Ford declines always precede rather than follow reduced manufacturing costs, and these reductions are in turn justified by increased efficiency in production. It is expected that the Detroit factory will be kept going at full blast the entire winter, which will mean a considerable saving per car in overhead costs.

"With the many new betterments, including the one-man top and slanting windshield in the touring cars, special upholstery and window controls in the closed cars, and light pistons, improved wiring, and other mechanical features in all models, it is no exaggeration to say that Ford cars were never higher in quality nor lower in price than at the present time," concludes Mr. Smith.

NEW CHEVROLETS PROVING POPULAR

Many Changes Are Made In Models for 1923, Says
Glendale Dealer

Sensational improvements in the new "Superior" Chevrolet models are creating a stir among motorists in Glendale, according to H. W. Smith, manager for C. L. Smith, local Chevrolet dealer.

Striking features of the 1923 "Superior" models are streamline body, higher radiator, with larger hood and cowl, longer wheel base, heavier frame, longer springs, cord tire equipment on all closed models, gasoline tank in the rear with vacuum feed system, drum type headlights with lens, storm curtains opening with the doors on the open models, which necessitates also the doors opening just opposite to what they did in former models; crowned and paneled fenders, with rib-rolled splash plates and a larger and stronger steering gear equipment.

The new "Superior" roadster has a one-piece body instead of the detachable turtle-back on the rear as in former models; it is bigger and heavier and looks more like the "F-B" roadster.

The new "Superior" five-passenger sedan is solid black with gold trim strip trimmings, richly finished interior and improved in appearance and construction by the many innovations described above.

The Utility coupe is very similar in design to the former one, but has in addition all the 1923 refinements.

An entirely new addition to the Chevrolet family is the four-passenger sedan or coach, which is reported will replace the former four-passenger coupe.

Richly finished inside and out, it has the famous Fisher body, cord tires, broad plate glass Termstedt regulated windows, and is equipped with trunk and trunk rack with nickel-plated guard rails. The two front seats are roomy and strong and tilt forward to permit easy access to the rear seat. It is lined with rich blue-gray velour that is both durable and extremely decorative.

Keep Data on Tires

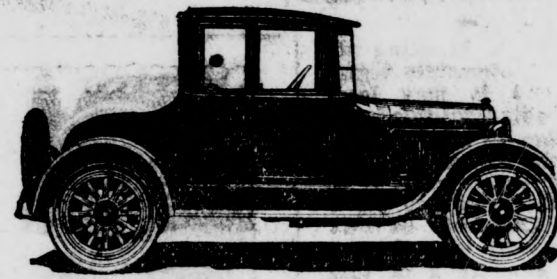

Keep a record of the date when buying a new tire, along with the price and make. Make an entry when it is placed on the wheel telling the mileage on the speedometer. If it is shifted from one wheel to another, the change should be noted, and finally a record of any repairs. A history of this kind shows the owner at all times the exact cost of mileage, and gives an intelligent guide to buying new casings and tubes.

Removing Cylinders

In removing the cylinder block from the chassis, the most care must be taken not to injure the parts. It is very easy to spring the rods out of true if the cylinders are not lifted off straight. For this reason in removing these parts one person should do the handling while a second takes care that no injury is done to the pistons or rods.

REO

A Pal of the Speed Wagon

This companion of the Speed Wagon, materially aids the business man who is alert—who tolerates no delays in the ever increasing grind of commerce today.

In helping you to make every day of the year a productive day by protecting your health in bad weather, your efficiency is increased. In fact, the "worst days" will be your best days, because inclement weather will give you just that advantage over your less fortunate rival who hasn't a Reo Business Coupe.

of tremendous value, directly and indirectly, cannot be questioned. It is not only a source of revenue but it brings the people of other states in closer touch with California and in that way is making California better known throughout the country every year.

Most of the transcontinental travel to California comes to Southern California, about ninety per cent coming here in spite of many efforts to divert it northward. This is probably due to some extent to the preference of visitors for Southern California, but it is more largely a matter of topography and climate. Travel into Southern California can be undertaken in comfort and safety at times when routes to the north are blocked or made uncomfortable by storms and cold weather.

More Drastic Rules to Guard Children

That the harvest of child lives on the streets and roads of Southern California must stop is the growing sentiment among the municipalities of the Southern and central counties.

According to officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, more drastic measures are now contemplated to protect the children from the rush of careless motorists—and to protect motorists from the rush of careless children!

Statistics show at the present time that more and more children are paying the penalty of playing in the roads and streets than ever before in the history of the west. In nearly all the larger communities, restrictive measures have been taken, but it is in the enforcing of these measures that the greatest good is to be accomplished.

Children are forbidden by law in most instances to play ball of either kind in the city streets. It is also generally prohibited to use a coaster in the streets or roads. Law usually stops skaters or coasters to "nip rides" behind automobiles. But in some instances these laws are not being enforced, and the auto club is starting a campaign to see that they are enforced.

An appeal of particular importance will be made to parents. It is asked that the parents instruct their children to do their playing in vacant lots or public or school playgrounds. This matter will also be brought to the attention of the public schools in every county through a periodical to be issued by the safety bureau of the Auto club.

SCENIC FEATURES AT SPARR HEIGHTS

Many Inquiries Being Made About Exclusive Property; Winding Roadways

The engineers who have been at work for several weeks planning the boulevards and parkways for Sparr Heights have at last completed a tentative lay-out that is "a thing of beauty" and promises to prove "a joy forever" to those fortunate ones who will eventually live in this beautiful residential tract.

This plan will be more or less modified as the work of development progresses and scenic features can be evolved and elaborated, but, in the main, it will stand as at present drawn.

Outside of the first unit placed upon the market a month ago, consisting of the business district and the bungalow section immediately adjoining it, there is not 100 feet of straight road in the whole tract.

Real Picturesque
The contour of the land has been carefully studied and the wide driveways have been made to conform thereto. The result will be a picturesqueness uncommon in a residential district.

In graceful curve and easy grades these splendid roads will sweep around under the brow of rugged promontories, will wind up on to broad elevated mesas from which a magnificent panorama of the whole Verdugo valley may be seen or will penetrate cool, quiet and secluded canyons and lead up to bridge paths. These in turn will climb tortuous trails leading to the crest of the ridge.

These winding roadways will constantly present changing vistas. Even in the distance will loom the Green Verdugo hills or the higher crests of the Sierra Madre range and each resident as he goes to and from his office will enjoy a scenic drive unsurpassed in the immediate neighborhood of Los Angeles that will prove a constant source of inspiration.

In this environment the worries and care of business will drop away like a discarded garment, the confusion and congestion of the great city will be forgotten and one will absorb the freedom of spirit that comes from contact with the open spaces and the big things of nature.

Great Development
Already some $450,000 worth of property has been sold in the first unit and the Francis-Barum-Walters company are kept busy answering inquiries also as to when the higher class residence sites on the hills will be placed upon the market.

The wonderful industrial development that is taking place in Los Angeles between the western side of the city and the coast has convinced those who desire homes where peace and quiet will obtain, that the only place to secure them is in the seclusion of the hills.

At Sparr Heights they realize that the conditions exist in a superlative degree while at the same time they will be as near to the business and shopping centers of the great city as those who live in the central portion of Hollywood.

Keen investors are also alive to the fact that at Sparr Heights the same marvelous increase of values evidenced in Hollywood, Glendale, New Windsor Square, etc., will follow and that at the prices now quoted a large profit is certainly assured to those who can appreciate what a difference a population of some 40,000 people will make.

Increase Tire Output
All the leading tire manufacturers in the United States are preparing for a heavier output in 1923. The requirements for next year are estimated at 40,000,000 tires.

Use Newspapers
When inserting a tube into the casing, keep the tube away from dirt or sand. If it is necessary to work on the ground, spread a newspaper down when replacing the tube.

FORMAL OPENING FOR C. L. SMITH

New Chevrolet Home Ready and New 1923 Model on Display Tonight

Two big events are to be celebrated tonight at 7:30 o'clock by C. L. Smith, Glendale Chevrolet dealer, for the formal opening and dedication of the new home of the Chevrolet in Glendale will take place, and also the display of the first 1923 Chevrolet car in the city. The new car will also be on display tomorrow.

The new home which has just been completed faces Orange, near Colorado, and is 50 by 130. Although in business here but six months, Mr. Smith has made many friends for the Chevrolet. Having been in the automobile business for seventeen years in Los Angeles and southern California, he is said to thoroughly understand the automobile business in its many branches.

The showroom and offices occupy a space 40 by 50 feet, a feature being the fourteen-foot ceiling, which has added a great deal to the appearance of the room. The remainder of the building is taken up by the stock room, a warehouse for new cars and a shop for service which is equipped with the very latest in tools and machinery for quick Chevrolet repairs.

$30,000 Investment
The building was erected by May & Hellman, local contractors. All of the work is said to have been done through Glendale people. It represents an investment in the neighborhood of $30,000, it is announced.

The company also has a branch at Tropic.

Visitors to the new Chevrolet home tonight are assured of a good time, for, in addition to being able to inspect the new Superior 1923 Chevrolet, which, in itself is declared to be a real treat, an orchestra will furnish music and refreshments will be served during the evening.

"It's a big event for the motoring public as well as ourselves," declared Mr. Smith this morning.

Big Bear Road In Excellent Condition

Travel in the San Bernardino mountains has dropped to a low level since the vacation period is over, but there are still a number of motorists who are going into the big hills, preferring the autumn months when there is a tang to the air and an overcoat is a comfort in the evening.

After the heaviest traffic that any preceding summer season has shown the roads to Big Bear lake and to Lake Arrowhead are in excellent condition. Constant maintenance has kept them from going to pieces in spite of the extra travel. Already the crews are making water breaks on the grades to divert this winter's rains and prevent a stream flowing down the road to cut ruts and cause washouts.

The loose rocks that formerly cluttered up the road on the Clark grade have been removed and tires are not cut like they used to be. Some of the turns that were quite narrow have been widened but there are three or four sharp turns on the Clark grade where the road runs through deep cuts that are rather short for a long wheel base car.

JEWETT COUPE IS REAL CAR VALUE

Some Distinctive Features Outlined by Sunset Motor Company

"The more you know about motor cars, the more readily you will appreciate the tremendous achievement in real value embodied in the new fifty horsepower, six-cylinder Jewett coupe," says C. J. Ruskauff, sales manager of the Sunset Motor company, 308 East Colorado.

"In the Jewett coupe four passengers ride in roomy comfort—the driver in an easy, roomy, individual seat, with two passengers in the broad 36-inch main seat, while a well-padded arm

Slipping Diagnosed

A slipping clutch can be diagnosed by placing the gears in low and letting in the clutch pedal while the brakes are locked. If the engine doesn't stall, the clutch is obviously slipping.

Cylinder Compression

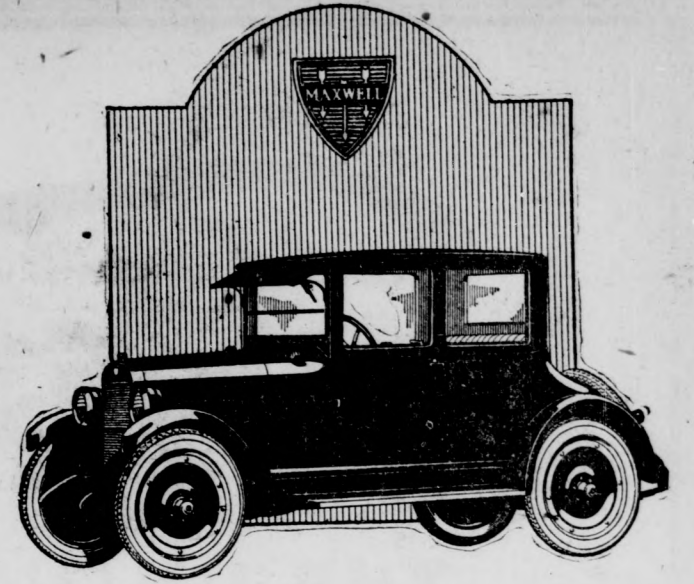

All cylinders in an automobile should have equal compression. A faulty set of piston rings in one cylinder will cause an engine to run irregularly.

Clean With Sandpaper

Fine sandpaper, not emery cloth, should be used to clean the generator. Hold a little piece of sandpaper against the revolving commutator with a small stick with a flat end until its surface becomes bright. Emery cloth or paper should never be used, as the filings will do injury to the generator.

Keeping Engine Cool

It is essential that the engine be kept properly cooled during the hot summer months. To do this the water system should be flushed out at proper intervals and filled with clean water. To make the operation efficient, the fan belt should also be adjusted and the spark kept advanced, which will aid in keeping the engine cool.

Owners know that the good Maxwell Coupe is just as unusual in reliable, economical performance as it is in pronounced beauty. Its sound value is more than ever apparent.

GARDNER CLOSED MODELS POPULAR

Factory Announcement That Production Capacity Is Now Being Taxed

The predictions made several months ago by E. V. Jellison, of the Jellison Motor company, have been realized, inasmuch as the closed car has dominated the motor car market for the past few months, due partly to the coming winter season, but also to the increasing popularity of an all year "round unit of transportation."

The Gardner Motor company of St. Louis appreciated the tendency and planned their production accordingly, but little did they realize that the popularity of the new Gardner sedan and business coupe would tax their production capacity over sixty per cent as it is now doing.

The new Gardner closed cars are being exhibited by the Jellison Motor company. One is a business coupe, an entirely new offering for this manufacturer, and the other a five-passenger sedan. Considering the construction and appointments of these closed jobs, their prices are of more than passing interest. The coupe retails at $1095 and the sedan at $1345 f. o. b. factory.

About Spark Plugs

The sizes of spark plugs for automobile engines are the half-inch pipe thread type, which requires no gasket; the 7/8-inch plug with machine thread and the metric thread plug. The two latter require gaskets.

No Wage Cuts Will Be Made, Says Ford

DETROIT, Oct. 21.—Ford Motor company does not expect to cut wages.

This announcement was made by Henry Ford this week. On the other hand, he expects business to continue strong all winter and that within a year or two things will settle down at about 15 per cent above 1913 prices.

The standard Ford wage continues at $6. To avoid being filled up with floaters the company starts men at $5, but this is increased after a man shows he is competent. This is usually within two months. Even though the company should shorten hours

Ford does not contemplate any cut in wages, he says.

This statement, Ford's view on politics, Muscle Shoals offer and automobile business in general, together with rumors of extension of the Ford plant in the automobile world, denials by Mr. Ford and rumors of new models of Ford cars, kept the automobile district humming this week.

Mr. Ford says that new production records are being made by the Ford Motor company with a scheduled daily output of between 5300 and 5400 cars. This strains the plants to their limit, but with increased demands in the future, Mr. Ford expects to find a way to take care of all orders. Mr. Ford expects the plants to continue operations all winter.

Steering Position

Steering is made easier—and in many instances safer—by grasping the wheel at the sides near the top. With the hands in this position a quicker, sharper and easier turn can be made in either direction. A full right or left turn can be made with one downward pull on the wheel by the hand on the respective side. For ordinary driving it may be more comfortable to keep the hands on the bottom of the steering wheel rim, but when driving through traffic or on a winding road, the top of the wheel is best for top-notch steering.

Wheels of new cars require less toeing in than the wheels of cars already limbered up.

HUPMOBILE COUPE IS GIVEN PRAISE

Ideal Car for Women, Word of Business Woman Here to Bartlett & French

The Hupmobile four-passenger coupe is in a class by itself as the ideal car for the woman of today. This was the expression of Mrs. Jane E. Gilbert, Glendale milliner, 123 North Brand, in praising the car which she recently purchased, to James H. French of Bartlett & French, local Hupmobile dealers.

The Hupmobile coupe is declared by dealers everywhere to have as strong appeal for women who use the car as does Mrs. Gilbert for both business and pleasure.

In speaking of the reason for her choice in a Hupmobile coupe Mrs. Gilbert stated that after consideration of many coupe models of different makes she chose the Hupmobile coupe because of its outside appearance, which embraces the very latest lines in coach design, as well as the inside appearance.

The dull silver fixtures, the seating arrangement and especially the dark fabric with a black stripe upholstery were other features that appealed to her, she stated.

She also commented on the ease with which the car may be handled as regards backing and filling when parking.

Mrs. Gilbert is making good use of her Hupmobile coupe in frequent trips between Glendale and Long Beach, a new store having just been opened at the latter city.

"I am certainly more than pleased with my purchase," she told Mr. French.

Watch Your Distance

The bumper protrudes several inches beyond the sides of the car, and in swinging around a turn or passing another car, this should always be borne in mind. The bumper of one car often catches in the spokes of another car, in close traffic, with most annoying results.

Postal Truck Speed

Speedometers are to be installed on all postoffice motor trucks in the United States. Mail truck chauffeurs will then be able to keep within the speed law, and also prevent disputes with annoying "cops" when wrongfully charged with speeding.

Removing Tight Nuts

When a nut cannot be removed with an ordinary wrench, heat the wrench and allow it to remain on the nut for a period. The nut can then be removed without much trouble, as the heat will expand it before the bolt to which it is secured is warmed.

MAXWELL CLIMBS MT. WILSON ROAD

Best Part of Trip Is Fact That Twenty-Five Men Were Carried by Car

"To climb Mt. Wilson with five passengers has always been considered a satisfactory test of any automobile, regardless of size or price, but to climb that tortuous, steep, winding grade with twenty-five full-grown men, averaging 155 pounds each, is a feat that has never been attempted before, and to those familiar with the road would have been considered impossible, but it was successfully accomplished with a new Maxwell car last Tuesday," says Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado street.

The new Maxwell was driven by Harry S. Stenninger of Pasadena, and twenty-four of Pasadena's business men were invited by Mr. Stenninger to join him on the trip up Mt. Wilson.

When he appeared on the scene with only one automobile to make the journey, he created quite a laugh among his guests, but they were finally persuaded to join him and when the new Maxwell was started on its strenuous trip, it was so completely covered with men hanging all over it, on the hood, fenders, running boards, and even on the top, which had been put down for the occasion, that the car itself could scarcely be seen.

Under the guidance of Mr. Stenninger, the car wound its way up the long, steep grade, never faltering, and with apparently no effort. When the car reached the Tavern at the end of its demonstration, Mr. Stenninger's guests found breakfast all prepared for them and later in the day, the Maxwell car carried them all safely down the grade to Pasadena again.

RESEARCH WORK ON STUDEBAKER

Achievements of Company Told by D. H. Packer of Glendale Agency

"Records of yesterday reflect the records of tomorrow," says D. H. Packer of the Packer Auto Company, 245 South Brand, local Studebaker distributors, "and things that have been accomplished by Studebaker in the past give promise of what Studebaker will accomplish in the future."

"There are a good many different makes of automobiles on the American market today," continues Mr. Packer, "and it is but reasonable to assume that some of these will fail. Those who fail will be the manufacturers who have made no noticeable effort along the lines of research."

"Studebaker has always been a leader in research. Among the records of yesterday established by Studebaker, you will find that Studebaker was:

"First to make extensive use of pressed steel.

"First to make a six-cylinder motor bloc in a single casting.

"First to sell a six-cylinder car for less than $2000.

"First to produce a car with crown fenders.

"First to produce a car, selling for less than $1500, with crankshaft and connecting rods machined all over.

BUSINESS COUPE AID TO SUCCESS

Harry E. White Tells How Reo Car Proves Help In Inclement Weather

"The successful business man tolerates no delays in this day of increasing commerce," says Harry E. White of the Harry E. White, Inc., distributors throughout the San Fernando valley for the Reo cars and trucks.

"We are handling a 'pal' of the Speed Wagon. It is a car that makes every day a productive day. By that, I mean it protects the health of the driver and it permits traveling in all kinds of weather.

"The man who is enabled to travel in bad weather has an 'edge' on his more unfortunate business rival. The man who owns a Reo business coupe is well equipped to meet the ever increasing grind of commerce today."

Mr. White also calls attention to the fact that one may become an owner of a Reo by trading in the old car.

Also, he points out, that the Harry E. White, Inc., "At the Gate-Way," is prepared to do repair work on all kinds of cars—scientifically and at right prices—also washing, polishing, storage and minor adjustments.

Vaseline Tire Lugs

When changing a tire a little vaseline smeared on the bolt through the wheel felloe will help to make the lugs screw on easier. Much of the crossing of threads is due to the fact that the bolts become dirty and rusty. With such obstructions the threads of the lugs are likely to cross with that of the bolt, and an impatient twist of the wrench does the rest.

The Mucker
by Edgar Rice Burroughs
Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Unassisted he could do little with the heavy helm. Barbara saw that he alone of all the officers and men of the brigantine was making an attempt to save the vessel. However futile the effort might be, it at least bespoke the coolness and courage of the man. With the sight of him there wrestling with death in a hopeless struggle a little wave of pride surged through the girl. Here indeed was a man! And he loved her—that she knew. Whether or no she returned his love she placed beside him now, to give what encouragement and physical aid lay in her power.

Quickly she ran to the wheelhouse. There she saw her and smiled.

"There's no hope, I'm afraid," he said, "but, by George, I intend to go down fighting, and not like those miserable yellow curs."

Barbara did not reply, but she grasped the spokes of the heavy wheel and tugged as he tugged. There she made no effort to dissuade her from the strenuous labor—every ounce of weight would help so much, and the man had a wild, mad idea that he was attempting to put into effect.

"What do you hope to do?" asked the girl. "Make that opening in the cliffs?"

There he nodded.

"Do you think me crazy?" he asked.

"It is such a chance as only a brave man would dare to take," she replied. "Do you think that we can get her to take it?"

"I doubt it," he answered. "With another man at the wheel we might, though."

Below them the crew of the Halfmoon ran hither and thither along the deck on the side away from the breakers. They fought with one another for useless bits of plank and cordage. The giant figure of the black cook, Blanco, rose above the others. In his hand was a huge butcher knife. When he saw a piece of wood he rushed upon his helpless victim with wild, bestial howls, menacing him with his gleaming weapon. Thus he was rapidly accumulating the material for a life raft.

But a single figure upon the deck that did not seem mad with terror. A huge fellow he was who stood leaning against the capstan watching the wild antics of his fellows with a certain wondering expression of incredulity. The while a contemptuous smile curled his lips. As Barbara Harding chanced to look in his direction he also chanced to turn his eyes toward the wheelhouse. It was the mucker.

The girl was surprised that he, the greatest coward of them all, should be showing no signs of cowardice now—probably he was paralyzed with fright. The moment that the man saw the two who were in the wheelhouse and the work that they were doing, he sprang quickly toward them. At his approach the girl shrank closer to Theriere.

What new outrage did the fellow contemplate? Now he was beside her. The habitual dark scowl blackened his expression. He laid a heavy hand on Barbara Harding's arm.

"Come out o' dat," he bellowed. "Dat's no kind o' job fer a broiler."

And before either she or Theriere could guess his intention the mucker had pushed Barbara aside and taken her place at the wheel.

"Good for you, Byrne!" cried Theriere. "I need you badly."

"Why didn't you say so den?" growled the man.

With the aid of Byrne's Hercu-

NAVY FLIER WINS SEAPLANE RACE

Lieut. S. W. Gorton, U. S. N., who won the big naval derby races held at Detroit on October 7. Lieutenant Gorton piloted a navy TR-1 seaplane, and averaged more than 112 miles per hour for the course around the Detroit river and the St. Clair lake course. Numerous thrills and spills featured the race, six of the eight original starters dropping out before the finish. Lieutenant Gorton was awarded the Curtiss marine trophy, offered some years ago by Glenn H. Curtiss for aeronautic flying. The race was an eight-lap affair of twenty miles each, totaling 160 miles.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

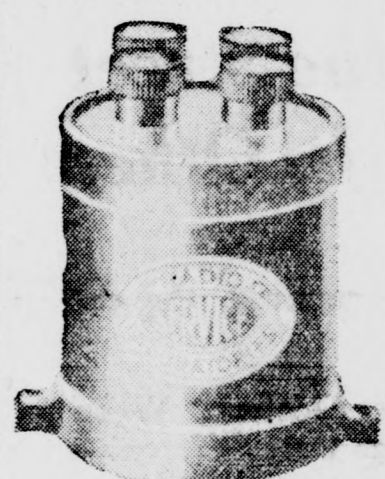

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

RADIO FREQUENCY TRANSFORMERS

Radio frequency amplification offers unusual advantages in receiving radio signals of all types, especially radiophone or modulated waves, over all other known methods of amplification. The use of radio frequency is familiar to operators and is known to be limited. A signal which is too weak to operate the detector tube can never be amplified by audio amplification, regardless of the number of stages used. After the signal is strong enough to operate the detector audio amplification is effective up to two stages. Audio amplification beyond this is limited by distortion and inherent audio tube noises.

By radio amplification the original weak incoming signal is raised to a value for effective operation of the detector tube. Regardless of how weak the signal is to start with, a proper radio amplification will bring it up to sufficient strength to make the detector function, after which audio amplification may be applied. Stations which are normally beyond range can, therefore, easily be brought in by using radio amplification.

By using a correct radio transformer the incoming signal frequency is amplified without the accompanying tube noises and local sounds, since the transformer will not respond to low frequency or audio sounds. Jarring the tubes, etc., will, therefore, not produce a ringing sound or disturb the receiver in any way, as with audio not limit the number of stages of radio amplification which the operator desires to use.

RADIO EXPLAINED

INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

VOLTAGE DROP IN THE LINE

Suppose that a direct current generator capable of supplying 115 volts at the outgoing wires of a power house is furnishing current to a distant building for lighting lamps which require 110 volts. Suppose that the line resistance is 0.1 ohm, and that the lamps require 50 amperes of current. There is then a line drop of 5 volts, and the available voltage at the generator is just right to operate the lamps at their rated voltage. Suppose, however, that other apparatus near the lamps, say, the motor of an elevator, is put in operation and that this requires 100 amperes of current. The line drop is then increased by 10 volts, or 15 volts in all, and the voltage available at the distant end of the line has fallen to 100 volts. This is not sufficient to maintain the lamps at full brightness and they will be dimmed perceptibly every time the elevator is operated. To correct this difficulty a new line of lower resistance must replace the old one; that is, the line drop must be decreased so that for the maximum current demand the lamps will not fall below 110 volts.

Another example of the line drop is seen in the dimming of the lights of a trolley car when the car is starting. The resistance of the trolley wire is kept low by using a large cross section of copper, and the track resistance is kept as low as possible by careful bonding at the rail joints. However, a few defective joints raises the track resistance and increases the line drop to such an extent that the necessary lamp voltage cannot be maintained when the car starts.

This track bonding can be observed on any railroad and the above answers the question the writer has often heard as to the why of that rails are jointed with copper connections.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S OIL CAN

There was a rumbling, puffing sound at the back door of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, ran to the door, her paws all covered with flower, for she was baking a cake.

When Nurse Jane looked out into the yard she saw Uncle Wiggily just bringing his automobile to a stop. It was the auto which had made the puffing, rumbling sound.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "I thought that noise was a thunder storm coming, and I hurried to take in the washed clothes. I never knew your car made so much noise before. What's the matter?"

"There is something wrong," answered the bunny gentleman, as he got off the seat, and after looking at each wheel, began to peer under the machine. "I shall stop at the garage and see what the trouble is," said the bunny.

"Yes, do," advised Nurse Jane. "And don't go too far in your car. Perhaps you might become stalled and would have to hop home."

"It wouldn't be the first time I've hopped!" laughed the rabbit. "But I'll be careful all the same. Though I do wonder what's the matter with my car."

However, Uncle Wiggily could see nothing wrong, and so he thought it would be all right to ride out a bit and look for adventure.

"Is there anything I may have the pleasure of bringing you when I return, Nurse Jane?" asked the bunny with a low and polite bow of his pink silk hat.

"Oh, excuse me—I mean his tall black nose—oh, I guess I'll never get that straight. I mean his pink, twinkling nose!"

"There! Right at last!" "Thank you, Wiggy. I have everything I need," said Nurse Jane. "Besides, I'm afraid if I did ask you to bring me anything you wouldn't do it."

"Why not? Do you think I'd forget?" asked the rabbit.

"No, but I think you are going to be stalled in your car far, far from home. If you are, just send me a message by the wireless telephone, and I'll have the garage monkey come and get you!" laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Oh, I'll be all right," said Uncle Wiggily. "Anyhow, I'm going to stop at the garage myself, as I go out, and have him see what's wrong."

Once more, Uncle Wiggily started off in his automobile, which had become a sausage for tires, and whenever Mr. Longears wanted his car to go extra fast he sprinkled pepper on the sausages. But even when he did this, still something seemed to be wrong. For the car bumped and pounded and knocked and sounded more than ever like a thunderstorm.

"There are a good many things the matter with your car," said the garage monkey, when Uncle Wiggily stopped to ask about it. "In the first place, the whatisit is loose. Then the tinkerm tanzerm needs adjusting. The doodle-doodle-um is crooked and the zizz-zoo-zoo is on backwards."

"Outside of those things," said Uncle Wiggily, casual like, I suppose it's a pretty good little car."

"Oh, yes," answered the garage monkey, indifferent as usual. "Just ride it around a bit more, and listen to whatever other noises it makes. Then come back and tell me about them and I think I can fix the little old boat so she'll run."

"Thank you," said Uncle Wiggily. "I will."

Now while he was in the garage, talking to the monkey gentleman, along came the Bob Cat. Seeing Uncle Wiggily's car standing in the road, and the bunny not in sight, the Bob Cat said:

"Ah, ha! This is my chance! I'll just crawl under the car, hang on by my claws and when Uncle Wiggily gets to a lonely place in couldn't get a good hold, and his claws just squeaked and squeaked. "Here we are! Now to oil the 'canary' birds," laughed Uncle Wiggily, for that is what auto squeaks are called. The bunny took out his oil can, and before the Bob Cat could crawl out from beneath the car Uncle Wiggily squirted a lot of greasy oil all around the wheels.

The whatisit is loose.

"There, I guess that ought to take out the squeaks!" said the bunny.

The oil took out more than the squeaks. It brought out the Bob Cat, too, for his eyes were filled with oil.

"Oh, wow!" howled the Bob Cat, as he staggered off into the woods, wiping the oil from his eyes on his paws. "Oh, who would ever think of this! And then, because his paws were oily, he fell down and bumped his nose."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, "at least I've gotten rid of a big bunch of trouble!" And when he started his car again all the bumps and knocks disappeared, as well as the squeaks. All they needed, as did the Bob Cat, was oil.

And if the fountain pen doesn't try to play in the middle of the white bed spread and make it look like a minstrel show, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's camp fire.

Beware of every living thing when home and loved ones are endangered,

This Illustration Tells a True Story of the Old Mother Cat Who Lived on One Side of the Street And the Airedale Dog Who Lived on the Other

Ordinarily, when the dog wandered across the street to where the cat lived, the cat promptly "beat it."

But now and then there came to visit the mother cat an occasional batch of kittens. When that happened, and the Airedale dog wandered into the cat's back yard, things were different—immediately there was activity, resentment, a dominating stand against invasion, which always resulted in the dog making a hasty retreat.

Why the change? Because with the RESPONSIBILITY which those kittens brought came the vision of her rights as a mother; faith in her ability to defend her young; courage to face the otherwise fearsome intruder; and the energy to go through with the charge that brought victory.

And folks, that's what HOME does for a man.

The responsibility of a HOME; a HOME to live in, to work and save and sacrifice to pay for; a HOME of his own with all the world outside; a citadel where he is KING.

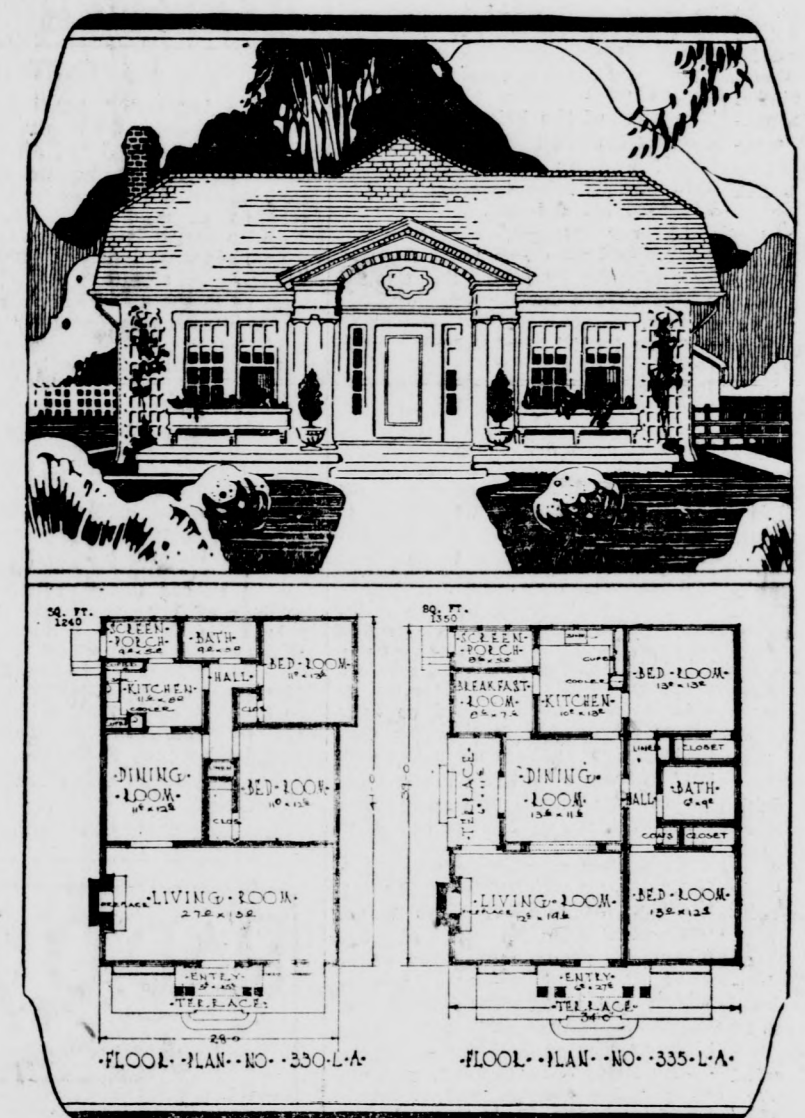

It brings to him, also, the proper vision of his citizenship; faith in himself and his opportunities; courage to meet his responsibilities and his problems; energy to go through with his responsibilities as a REAL home owning citizen.

A BOUT WITH AN OIL STOVE

When you get all muddled up over some task, when the harder you try the less you seem to accomplish, when you push and pull and tug at your work in a spirit of anxiety and impatience and desperation, what is the best thing to do?

An oil stove gave me the answer to that question this morning. Or, rather, reminded me of it anew. I knew it before just as you knew it, but I seemed to need to be reminded of it, as perhaps you sometimes do.

The Oil Stove vs. R. C.

For some time it had been borne upon me (via my nasal appendages) that the family oil stove and I had simply got to have an executive session. This morning, being spurred on by October energy and also by complaints of other members of the family likewise in possession of nasal appendages, I tackled the job. Book of directions in hand, I advanced boldly in the oil stove and began to dismember it. Said the book of directions with the blithe optimism that ever characterizes such pieces of literature: "Chimneys are easily taken apart. Pull out the cotter pin at the end of each cross rod. Pull out the rods. Lift off the enameled drums and the tubes are loose, ready to be cleaned." And so far it spoke the truth. Everything was easy and with joy I fell upon the tubes that were, as prophesied, ready (and waiting) to be cleaned. And cleaned them. With a beaming (and doubtless smutty) face I finally surveyed my handiwork, four clean tubes and chimneys, and knew something how God felt on that first Sunday. Irreverent? I appeal to all the women who have felt the joy of seeing some glory hole made clean and orderly at last by their efforts, to defend me from that charge. Didn't you feel some of the joy of creation when you, too, brought order out of chaos?

R. C. Pushed into a Corner

To return to the oil stove—which, alas, I was obliged to do. Once more I consulted my book of directions and found that nothing was said about the ease of putting the tubes back in the chimneys. Small wonder! And, like the optimistic idiot that I am, I had dismembered the whole four instead of leaving one as a sample. For half an hour I struggled with the first tube. Apparently I was doing exactly the opposite of what I had done to dismember, but the rods that pulled out so easily, firmly refused to go back. I wriggled them, I took them over to the light, could get them through one hole but not through the next.

Dinner time was approaching and no stove to get dinner on. I began to get nervous and then desperate. I had been using tact with the rods. I began to use force. You can imagine just how good that did! And then finally I said to myself: "I must be making some mistake. I am going to calm down, rest a few minutes, and then tackle the problem again from the beginning, and see if I can't find out just what's the matter."

R. C. Wins Out

And behold, I did. A few minutes with the morning paper, a relaxing of my tension, a new perspective on the whole situation, and when I went back at the problem I saw at once just what the matter was. I had not noticed a minor detail of construction that, as soon as I understood it, made the whole thing simple. If I had kept on tugging and pulling and fighting the thing I never should have noticed it.

And that's what the oil stove taught me. Do you ever find yourself in need of that lesson, Reader Friends? I think most of us do.

When will the junk wagon disappear when the last superannuated horse dies.

Where are your children playing?

In the street or in their own yard

YOUR KIDDIES—What about their future? We know you have given this serious consideration, that you and your wife have visualized a future that would represent your good intentions, thoughts and love for them, but are you accepting all the opportunities offered?

Does the home you are housing them in reflect comfort, ideal home environments and play grounds? Do you and they refer to it with pride? Is it your own—or are you retaining it at a monthly rental?

Possibly you built your present home when you were first married—it was then large enough to meet your needs but that was years ago before the children came; in that case, sell it to some other young couple and build another to meet present conditions. Regardless of the size and kind of home you will want to build, you will find it illustrated in our Photographic Plan Service, and we want both you and the wife to come to the office at your convenience and come to know how reasonable a modern convenient home can be built.

LATEST FASHIONS FOR WINTER

Left: The chill of early Fall days will afford little concern to the woman who possesses one of these comfortable morning wraps of rose crepe de chine bordered with novelty crepe. Right: Oriental in line, yet truly American is this cleverly machine-stitched gray duvetyn, banded with soft Russian squirrel and girdle clasped with antique buckle.

BEAUTY CHATS
EDNA KEN FORBES
BOUDOIRS AND BATHROOMS

We talk so much about beauty baths and face powders and lotions that I sometimes think we neglect another essential of the daily beauty treatment, that is the rooms in which such treatments take place.

A certain amount of equipment is necessary, it need not be expensive or elaborate, but it does facilitate these little tasks and make them pleasant.

A bath in a tin tub with a cake of soap and a wash cloth may be equally cleansing, but it's not nearly as much fun as a bath in a good looking tub with perfumed salts from a hand painted jar and sweet smelling powder from a lustreware bowl with an alluring negligee ready to slip into when the bath is finished.

No matter how dingy or old fashioned your bathroom may be, you can smarten it up with glossy bathroom paper and a liberal use of enamel. You need not be clever to do this work yourself. You can purchase cheap glass jars and bottles and paint them with flowers or a simple design in colors even if you are not an artist. A few of these bottles on a glass shelf above the bathtub will make any bathroom attractive.

A little ingenuity will do wonders for your boudoir or bedroom. If you can't afford good furniture, cheap furniture, enameled French gray or canary yellow or some other good shade, will serve quite as well. Only remember that plain color wall papers are always best; they make a room seem larger and lighter. Design and contrasting color can be introduced in your cretonnes and cushions. A dressing table requires less space than a bureau, and can be made from an inexpensive table with a mirror hung above it. Many little changes may suggest themselves to you.

Worried—In a good hair tonic, if alcohol is used, there is also enough oil in the mixture to keep the hair from drying out. If your tonic does not contain this, massage some olive oil into the scalp whenever the hair requires it. Send a stamped addressed envelope requesting a hair tonic formula and I will be glad to mail one to you.

Perspiring Hands—As this condition usually comes from nervousness, it will only be cured by overcoming the cause. Temporary relief however, can be obtained by using astringents on the hands, especially the palms where the pores are most active. A good powder for this is made by adding 2 drachms of boric acid to an ounce and a half of any powder, such as talcum, orris root or just plain rice starch. A little toilet vinegar or spirits of camphor added to the water when bathing such hands will be beneficial.

Nonette—Dandruff in the eyebrows is generally due to lack of oil in the skin. Massage some olive oil or vaseline into roots of the brows, or send a stamped addressed envelope to me requesting the formula for the eyelash and brow tonic.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

R. P.—We have recently had a paper on poison ivy. If you missed it you may have it by repeating your request and sending the stamped, addressed envelope.

C. S.—While it is true that babies brought up on the bottle are apt to have less stamina than the breast-fed babies, there are many children who have been brought up on the bottle who do thrive. The fact that your brother is so strong and husky shows that he is one of them. While it is a crime for a mother not to nurse her baby if possible, there are few occasions when it cannot be done. I shall go into this further in another paper.

Melancholia may be due to psychic causes or physical causes. If you think yours is of psychic origin, go to a modern nerve specialist. How about your general health? Are you eating correctly and getting at least fifteen minutes' strenuous exercise every day?

168-Pound Reader—If you weigh 168 pounds and are 5 feet 5 inches in height, then you are about thirty pounds overweight, and your "bad heart" which you think you have and your doctor says you have not, undoubtedly is simply a heart that is having to do a little too much pumping through thirty pounds of excess fat. Do as your doctor says you ought to do. Forget you ever had a heart.

Your symptoms which you have given me suggest too much thinking about yourself. Have you ever read George Eliot's "Daniel Deronda"? If you haven't, do so and take Daniel's advice to unhappy Gwendolyn and study some subject other than human experience; botany, geology or other sciences. Get interested in some welfare work in your neighborhood and get out more. You say you are alone too much.

Above all things, read our instructions on how to reduce your weight. That will give you something to do which is interesting,

COUNCIL TABLE

Q. There is no place for a linen closet on the second floor, but there is a large hall. Do you think a chiffonier to hold linen would look out of place? Should it be white to match the woodwork or would a dark wood be more suitable?

A. My advice would be to get a mahogany high-boy instead of the chiffonier. If you cannot find just what you want get a tall chest of drawers with no mirror on top. This will be quite appropriate for the hall and will hold a great deal of linen.

Q. Is Japanese grass cloth a satisfactory wall covering and would you advise its use all over a downstairs?

A. A house I saw in the east was built by an artist who used this old gold Japanese grass cloth in his living room, dining room, studio and hall, but all these rooms were almost one and were a background for his pictures, which were every place as the light and space best suited them. In this instance the effect was exceedingly good and harmonious, but I do not know as I would unhesitatingly advise it under all conditions. There is one sure thing and that is a soft yellowish gold background harmonizes with almost any color scheme one desires to use, and is especially satisfying with tan or brown or brown rugs, peachy colored draperies and dull gilt picture frames.

Q. What decoration would you advise for a large south bedroom which is exceedingly warm in summer and plenty so in winter, as the sun streams in all day long? We are to refinish and redecorate before very long and would appreciate your suggestions.

A. A most beautiful color scheme has before me which I am sure would just suit the room you describe. Have the walls in creamy white, either paper or tinting, whichever you intend to do, and of course the woodwork should be white. Have a mossy green velvet rug or green and white rag ones, or there are the Scotch rugs which come in green and conventional borders in white. Have white muslin curtains with ruffles and overdrapery having green as the predominating color. With white bed spreads and dresser covers and white furniture you will find this a most delightfully cool appearing room.

Q. We like just a suggestion of the flavor of garlic in our salads. Is there any way to obtain this without actually putting garlic in the salad?

A. A simple and effective way to give a faint garlic flavor to a salad is to use vinegar from a bottle in which a pickled garlic clove is left standing all the time. Tarragon vinegar, deliciously flavored for salads, may be made likewise, by putting a sprig of tarragon in a bottle of pure vinegar.

Q. Can you tell us how to make the corks stay in the bottom of salt and pepper shakers?

A. Instead of using corks in salt and pepper cellars, I use Christmas seals, or small pieces of paper with a little glue on them.

Q. What way would you consider best way to cook rice, and what do you think of baking potatoes whole in jackets?

A. When properly boiled, rice should be snowy white, perfectly dry and smooth; and every grain separate and distinct. To attain this, put a quart of water on the fire, and let it boil rapidly, with one teaspoonful salt. Wash a cup of rice in cold water, drain and add it to the rapidly boiling water. Stir occasionally, and gently with a wooden spoon. The boiling water will toss the rice together, and soon as the rice commences to soften, do not, under any circumstances, stir or touch again. Let it continue to boil rapidly for about twenty minutes, or until the grains begin to swell out, and it appears to thicken. Drain, and set the pot in the oven; to dry the rice let the water which rises dry out of the rice.

To my mind, baking potatoes "in jacket" is the very best method of cooking potatoes.

Fairview is located in one of the most beautiful sections of Northwest Glendale; fine soil, magnificent view, on a beautiful slope, close to transportation, with three car stops right on the property. Water, gas and electricity.

We can refer you to scores of people who with a very small investment, made $100, $200 and $300 in our earlier units. Tenth Unit lots are the best we have ever offered. Don't miss this opportunity. Let us show you today.

Temporary homes of neat construction permitted.

Drive out West Broadway and San Fernando Road to Alameda Street, opposite Moreland Station, then 1 block up to Tract Office.

USE OF AMERICAN MACHINERY WINS RUSS PIONEERS

Small Colony There Shows
How to Do Farming
In Modern Way

WERETSCHAGINA, Russia—Here in the Ural, on a stretch of land covering 15,000 desatines (approximately 45,000 acres) twenty American, including eleven mechanics, are today performing pioneer work which some day will serve as a model for Russia's entire agricultural system.

With twenty-one tractors, the small American colony is working hard to till as much land for this fall's sowing as possible. In shift, they are working around the clock—eighteen hours—plowing, four hours theoretical and two hours practical lessons for the neighboring farmers.

The practical lessons are being performed on the farmers' land, in order to create a favorable feeling among the farmers, who are inclined to regard these pioneers as enemies.

This stretch of land represents a fraction of the area owned by the Soviet state which holds about a total area of 5 per cent of the total Russian agricultural land.

In olden times these farms belonged to the czaristic administration, which, in turn, gave control to owners of large industrial plants for the purpose of feeding the industrial workers of mines and plants located nearby.

This particular stretch of land, for instance, always has been attached to the "Kiesel Kope," a coal mine which employs even today 24,000 workmen. This model farm is on the same level and offers the same conditions as Texas.

In order to secure the feeding of its large number of workmen, the management of the Kiesel mine proposed to the American colony to go there and form a joint company. As a consequence a company has been formed between the Kiesel mine, the "first tractor basis" of American workmen and a nearby superphosphate factory, formerly owned by Prince Lussupoff, one of Russia's richest men.

HUGE HOUSE IS THING OF PAST

'Good Old Days' of Mammoth Home Gone for Good, Says D. Gillin

"This is a compact age in home planning as in everything else," comments Donald R. Gillin, service manager of the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company at 460 West Los Feliz Road.

"We sometimes sigh for the good old days," he continues, "when mother lived in the big house with two or three spare rooms for company and where at Thanksgiving time the family could all gather around the big dining room table in the big dining room stretching out twenty feet or more. We sigh for those days, but they are gone forever. The visiting relatives are now comfortably accommodated at the neighboring hotel, and if a big dinner has been planned it is the hotel chef that does the planning."

"The labor and expense of keeping up the big home is avoided and the money saved by building smaller and just what the family actually needs is spent to good advantage for more comfortable and complete home equipment, more plumbing, more and better electric wiring, plenty of convenient outlets, artistic lighting fixtures, quality hardware and beautiful interior decoration."

"The service department of the Bentley-Schoeneman company is equipped with beautiful photographic views of the ideal home and plans may be had immediately without charge to customers."

WE DO IT BETTER

A good job of painting does not consist in indifferently applying a certain amount of paint to a given surface. Each individual case requires special treatment to meet the demands of that particular job. All our paints are mixed on the job under the supervision of an expert who has made a study of local conditions. Let us talk over with you your painting requirements, both exterior and interior.

OLDSMOBILE CAR IS CHOICE MADE

Lieutenant L. A. Lawson to Take Automobile With Him to Honolulu

When First Lieutenant L. A. Lawson of Glendale sails from San Francisco for Honolulu on October 25, he will take with him a semi-sport four-cylinder Oldsmobile.

Delivery of the car was made this morning by J. C. Peck & Co., Oldsmobile agency, 208-210 West Broadway.

The car will be driven to San Francisco and placed aboard the ship to make the trip.

In speaking to Mr. Pollock, Lieutenant Lawson declared that there were a number of reasons why he had decided to take an Oldsmobile with him. One of the chief points in favor of the Oldsmobile is the fact that the finish will stand up under all sorts of weather conditions such as will be found at Honolulu. Durability, style and comfort were other features that helped him in making his selection, he said.

Woman Charged With Slaying Twins Freed

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Hazel McNally, who was charged by her husband with the murder of her twin babies, is today a free woman.

No evidence to prove she killed the babies, or in fact, that the babies were ever born was produced at the hearing. Judge Henry Cleveland declared late yesterday in dismissing the case which had set all Hammond alutler.

The twins, as far as the law is concerned, remain just what the mother said they were—straw-stuffed dummies.

Commission Approves of Railroad's Plans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The interstate commerce commission today approved plans for the reorganization of the International-Great Northern railroad of Texas which was sold by a receiver last July. The plans involve $44,500,000 of new financing. The road was authorized to acquire control of the Austin dam and suburban railroad and to buy half of the capital stock of the Galveston, Houston and Henderson railroad.

THAT THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW

The fact that the marvelous results obtained by the chiropractor today to a large extent have been upon patients where the medical doctor has failed, is proof sufficient that chiropractic is based upon a different principle from that of medicine.

If based upon a different principle whereby a superior result is obtained, unquestionably the educational foundation upon which that principle is based must be different.

Therefore, to determine the qualifications of the chiropractor, he must of necessity be examined by a board educated in chiropractic.
